

ATTORNEY GENERAL RESIGNS HIS POST

Hays, Walsh Testify In Oil Lease Inquiry

Former Chairman of Republican National Committee Is Recalled

JENNINGS STORY DENIED

Brother of Teapot Prosecutor Subpoenaed on Motion of Senator Spencer

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Will Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, will be recalled before the oil committee.

The request for his subpoena was made by Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor, whose brother, John Walsh, a Washington attorney, was called for Friday's hearing as the first witness.

Senator Walsh wanted to question Hays regarding a telegram he sent from Sullivan, Ind., which Chairman Ladd read into the record. The telegram said that "never at any time for any purpose did I receive from Jake Hamon $25,000 or any other sum directly or indirectly, personally or on behalf of the Republican national committee or otherwise."

Al Jennings, the former train robber, testified Thursday that Hamon had told him of a payment of $25,000 to Hays.

John Walsh was subpoenaed Thursday at the instance of Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, and he insisted that he be heard Friday. Senator Spencer said he was not ready but, after Senator Walsh said his brother's business had been under investigation, and that the fact that he had been subpoenaed had left him under suspicion, Walsh took the stand on Wednesday next. Dr. G. W. NOT INTERESTED IN MUTUAL

Under questioning Walsh testified that he never had been associated with the Mutual Oil Co. nor directly with any other oil company but that he is a director and general counsel for the American Republic corporation, a holding company.

"Does your company have any interest in Wyoming or in California which have any connection with the naval oil reserve lease?" asked Senator Spencer.

"I am glad you asked that question because the Republican national committee is making an investigation of that," replied the witness. "My company has had no interest in oils in Wyoming, Montana, or anywhere else in the northwestern states."

"I think, in view of the statements which have gone out testimony has placed me under suspicion," insisted the witness when Senator Spencer had finished his examination. "If you have anything in mind let me know."

"I am not ready to examine you further this morning," said Spencer. "and I will not examine you until I am ready. And should it turn out that I do not desire to examine you further, I will not summon you."

An Walsh was excused, Senator Walsh moved to strike out all of his testimony as irrelevant to test the sentiment of the committee but he later withdrew his motion.

Ship Reaches Port After 6 Days Of Peril

By Associated Press
Norfolk, Va.—Steering his rudderless craft through perilous weather for six days by manipulation of the sails is the feat accomplished by Captain Charles Williams, 70, skipper of the four-masted schooner Brimmer P. Pendleton, which reached here Thursday in tow of the coast guard cutter Mascoutin.

The Pendleton left Jacksonville on Feb. 8, with a cargo of lumber for Portland Me. Off Charleston she was rammed by the steamship City of Beaumont. The schooner's rigging on her port side was carried away, but Captain Williams rigged his sails on the starboard side and took his craft into Charleston. Two hundred miles off Hatteras she ran into a terrific gale. Her rudder was carried away, and high seas broke over the helpless craft. The steamer Beaumont came alongside and offered to take off the crew. High seas made it impossible to launch the life boats but Captain Williams told his crew they were at liberty to attempt the transfer. As for himself he asserted he would stand by his ship.

All his seamen remained with him.

WIFE FEARS HUERTA WAS LOST WITH SHIP

Mexican Rebel Chief Was Due in New Orleans Several Weeks Ago

New Orleans, La.—Seneca Adolfo de la Huerta wife of the Mexican rebel leader told the New Orleans Item Friday she believed her husband to be dead.

She added according to the news paper, that she and her husband had planned to come to New Orleans and reside among sympathizers of the revolution and that when this had been arranged she came here with the understanding he would come here on March 18.

De la Huerta, according to the Mexico City government, is known to have boarded a vessel at Frontera, Tabasco, March 18, and since that time all trace of him has been lost. In Mexican circles here fear has been expressed that the vessel foundered in a storm which swept the Mexican coast for several days immediately after that date.

WIDOW OF VOLUNTEER FIREMAN LOSES SUIT

Madison—Voluntary service on a fire department is not just cause for damages under the state compensation law, the state industrial commission ruled Friday in denying application for an award to a widow. The widow's husband was killed while assisting in pulling a hose cart to a fire, although he was not a member of the organized volunteer fire department. The commission held that the deceased was not an employee of the city within the compensation act.

Press Gives Hiram Big Majority Over Coolidge

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Reversing the result of the North Dakota primary of March 18, Senator Hiram Johnson of California defeated President Calvin Coolidge in Tuesday primary for South Dakota's Republican presidential endorsement, unofficial returns, compiled by newspapers showed Friday.

The president was victorious in North Dakota by several thousand votes, while Senator Johnson won out in South Dakota by nearly 2,000 majority, the unofficial returns indicate. Returns from 1,684 precincts tabulated by three of the states' leading newspapers, gave Senator Johnson 40,243 votes and President Coolidge 38,500, when compilation of figures ceased Thursday night.

The remaining 746 precincts, scattered through a score of counties, will not change the result, the three newspapers—the Sioux Falls Press, the Sioux Falls Argus Leader, and the Mitchell Republican, declared, each announcing Johnson as the victor.

Governor W. H. McMaster, who won the Republican senatorial nomination from Senator Thomas Sterling had a majority of more than 11,000 Friday, 1,456 precincts giving him 49,808 votes and Sterling 23,125.

Other results, claimed by the newspapers on the face of unofficial figures, were:

W. G. McAduff won the Democratic presidential endorsement, U. S. G. Cherry, majority candidate, won the Democratic senatorial nomination and Tom Ayres won the Farmer Labor senatorial nomination.

'VISITOR' ASKED LARGE SUM FOR U. S. JUDGESHIP

Former New York Representative Tells of Demands Made by Wayne Wilson

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Former Representative J. V. Olcott of New York City was called before the senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty Friday to tell of conversations he had with a "visitor" at his office in which he was told that he would be "expected to pay $10,000 when his name was sent into the senate," for a federal judgeship.

Olcott said his visitor's name was Wayne Wilson, and he believed he was "with the National Surety Co."

"Neither directly nor indirectly did he tell me he was representing anybody in the department of justice," Olcott said.

Olcott said he thought Wilson told him at first he was investigating Olcott's qualifications for the department of justice. He had not mentioned Jess W. Smith or any other person particularly, but had referred to "the boys."

Olcott fixed the time of the conversation as during the special session of congress just after President Harding took office.

DEMANDED MONEY

"Two or three days later he came back," said Olcott. "He told me that a little money was necessary."

"I told him I couldn't possibly see any reason in that."

"What amount did he mention?"

"That $10,000 would be required when my name went to the senate and $25,000 when I was confirmed."

"I sized it up as one of those cases where a fellow learns about a candidate who is to be appointed, and he thought I would be suitable and easy usual practice in such cases and rely upon your advice as attorney general and head of the department of justice."

INTERESTED PARTY

"But you will see at once that the committee is investigating your personal conduct, and hence you have a defense in that matter, and the committee wants these papers because of a claim that they disclose your personal conduct of the department. Assuming that the request of the committee is appropriately limited to designated files, still the question will always be the same. In view of the fact that the inquiry relates to your personal conduct, you are not in a position to give to me or the committee what would be disinterested advice as to the public interest."

"You have a personal interest in this investigation which is being made of the conduct of yourself and your office, which may be in conflict with our official interest as the attorney general. I am not questioning your fairness or integrity. I am merely rectifying the fact that you are placed in two positions, one your personal interest, the other your office as attorney general which may be in conflict."

A special train was made up here and E. T. Whittier, vice president in charge of the Northwestern region, and other staff officials rushed to the scene to investigate. The derailment occurred at a cross-over, but the exact cause has not been learned.

Coolidge Requests Daugherty To Quit

President Explains Motives for Requesting Resignation of Attorney

UNABLE TO ATTEND TO DUTY

Resigning Official Replies to Executive's Request in Terse Letter

Washington.—President Coolidge's letter to the attorney general requesting his resignation was written under date of March 27. It follows:

"My Dear Mr. Attorney General:

Since my conference with you, I have examined the proposed reply you suggest making to the demand that you furnish the committee investigating the department of justice with files from that department, relating to litigation and to the bureau of investigation. You represent to me and to the committee in your letter that it would not be compatible with the public interest to comply with the demand, and conclude your letter with a statement that I approve that position.

"Certainly I approve the well established principle that departments should not give out information or documents where such a course would be detrimental to the public interest, and this principle is always peculiarly applicable to your department which has such an intimate relation to the administration of justice. But you will readily perceive that I am unable to form an independent judgment in this instance without a long and intricate investigation of voluminous papers, which I can not personally make, and so I should be compelled to follow the usual practice in such cases and rely upon your advice as attorney general and head of the department of justice."

"But you will see at once that the committee is investigating your personal conduct, and hence you have a defense in that matter, and the committee wants these papers because of a claim that they disclose your personal conduct of the department. Assuming that the request of the committee is appropriately limited to designated files, still the question will always be the same. In view of the fact that the inquiry relates to your personal conduct, you are not in a position to give to me or the committee what would be disinterested advice as to the public interest."

"You have a personal interest in this investigation which is being made of the conduct of yourself and your office, which may be in conflict with our official interest as the attorney general. I am not questioning your fairness or integrity. I am merely rectifying the fact that you are placed in two positions, one your personal interest, the other your office as attorney general which may be in conflict."

"How can I satisfy a request for action in matters of this nature on the ground that you, as attorney general, advise against it, when you as the individual against whom the inquiry is directed, necessarily have a personal interest in it. I do not see how you can be asking for yourself in your own defense in this matter, and at the same time and on the same question acting as my adviser as attorney general."

"These two positions are incompatible, and cannot be reconciled. I am sure you will see that it is necessary for me to have the advice of an interested attorney general in order that I may discharge the duties of my office in this and other matters. I feel certain that you will know how deeply I regret that this situation has arisen. It only illustrates the difficulties which are certain to recur with ever increasing embarrassments and your inability to perform satisfactorily the duties of attorney general under present conditions."

"You will readily understand that it is not my intention to prejudice the issues which remain to be developed in this investigation. I recognize that you are entitled to a full and fair hearing. But as there is no way by which you can divest yourself of the interest you have personally in the investigation, I can see no way but for you to retire as attorney general and I am therefore compelled to request your resignation."

Very truly yours,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE"

The attorney general's reply, written Friday, follows:

"My Dear Mr. President:

"I hereby acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 27, by the hand of your secretary requesting my resignation as attorney general of the United States."

"I am in compliance therewith. I hereby tender my resignation. While you do not state when you desire my resignation to become effective, I most respectfully request that it become effective forthwith."

Yours very truly,
"H. M. Daugherty"

"Attorney General."

Resigns Cabinet Post

Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney General of the United States, Friday morning resigned his post despite his previous assertions that he would refuse to give up until the investigation of his administration should be completed. His resignation resulted in part from the urging of his Republican colleagues who claimed he was embarrassing the G. O. P. by his continuance in office.

Refusal To Publish Wilson Documents Is Causing Controversy

Congressmen Doubt Right of Former President's Widow to Withhold Papers from Publication.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Copies of the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post available Thursday revealed that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has asked that publication to refrain from publishing several letters written by the late president, the request being made. It was said because the widow "wished to establish her right to control or to prohibit" the revelation of her husband's correspondence.

The incident caused no little stir here, for men in congress promptly asked whether it is Mrs. Wilson's intention to establish a property right over letters written by Woodrow Wilson on government stationery while he was holding public office.

President Taft, it is said, held that letters written while in the White House relating to public business were the property of the American government and did not take them with him. An examination of the files when the Harding administration came into power showed that the Wilson family had taken away practically all letters of any importance.

There can be no test, of course, of the property rights of official letters until an effort is made by some one to sell them or to copyright them, for it is held by competent authorities that no one, not even the widow has a right to sell or prohibit the publication of letters written by a president of the United States.

The last occasion on which he subject was discussed was in connection with the use in a book by Ambassador Gerard of a letter written to him by the Kaiser. It was contended, at the time, that the letter was public property and that newspapers and other publications could not be required to recognize a property right of any individual in that letter. An effort was made to persuade President Wilson to authorize the publication of the document, but he delayed action until after the Gerard book was made public.

IMPORTANT QUESTION
The question of legal rights to letters written by the government officials is likely to become an important one particularly if the courts should hold that anyone who is employed by the government has a right to take his letters with him after he leaves office, and restrain their publication. It so happens that one letter written by President Wilson to Secretary Lane of the interior department which has never been made public, gives valuable information on the attitude of Mr. Wilson toward some of the questions involved in the oil leasing policies of his administration. President Believes Head of Department Unable to Do Justice to Position

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY

Resigning Official Intended to Retain Office Until End of Investigation

Washington, D. C.—At the request of President Coolidge Attorney General Daugherty Friday submitted his resignation, effective at once.

The president's decision was based on a conviction that Mr. Daugherty could not give disinterested attention to his official duties while under the stress of this senate inquiry into his conduct.

While disclaiming any intention to "prejudice" the issues raised in the investigation, the president wrote Mr. Daugherty that his continuance in office must inevitably be a source of "ever increasing embarrassment."

In a letter of those terse sentences, the attorney general replied that he was resigning "solely out of deference to your request."

The correspondence was made public at the White House without comment, but at the department of justice Mr. Daugherty immediately prepared a statement setting forth again his side of the question.

Since the senate's investigation of the department began on March 12, Mr. Coolidge has seen plain indications that some department officials were giving a large part of their attention to the defense of Mr. Daugherty to the apparent detriment of their regular pursuits.

FRIENDS INVOLVED
Mr. Daugherty had insisted that he be permitted to remain in office until he had been given an opportunity to answer fully all the charges made before the investigating committee as the testimony has developed, however, it has become apparent that if he were to indicate his department it would become necessary for him to disprove also the charges against Jess Smith and others closely associated with him.

There is no doubt, also, that the repeated charges made before the senate committee leading directly to the door of the attorney general's office, although not involving him directly, have had their influence in finally determining his fate.

President Coolidge's letter requesting the resignation based the request on the attorney general's refusal to comply with the summons of the senate investigating committee for certain papers relating to gun running on the Mexican border.

Mr. Daugherty said he tendered it solely "out of deference to your request and in compliance therewith."

EMBARRASSMENT RESULTED
The incident, the president said in his letter, "only illustrates the difficulties which are certain to recur with ever increasing embarrassment and your inability to perform satisfactorily the duties of attorney general under present conditions."

Besides the Daugherty committee disclosures, testimony has been given before the oil committee that the attorney general dealt in "sinister stock" after he entered the cabinet, that he and others in the justice department were seeking to shield Edward B. McLean from appearance on the witness stand in the oil inquiry, and that McLean himself was a secret agent of the department.

In deciding in favor of another break in his cabinet, President Coolidge followed the almost unanimous advice of Republicans in the senate, some of whom, including Senator Borah of Idaho, have been urging for weeks that Mr. Daugherty had lost the confidence of the country.

Retention of Mr. Daugherty in the cabinet was one of the strongest links by which President Coolidge, when he assumed office, tied up with the political fortunes of his administration those of the uncompleted administration of his predecessor. Long a personal friend of Mr. Harding, the retiring attorney general was the pre-convention Harding campaign manager in 1920 and he entered the cabinet acclaimed as the Warwick of the new regime in Washington.

HARDING'S CLOSE FRIEND
Throughout President Harding's lifetime, their close association remained unbroken. When criticisms of the attorney general began and when his usefulness had been greatly impaired a year ago by illness, Mr. Harding assured him that he would find only support and confidence at the White House.

The post of attorney general was the first high public place ever held by Mr. Daugherty and his administration of the department of justice was perhaps more controversial than any other federal agency under this Republican regime. It was at the (Continued on page two) same time, strongly commended for positive positions adopted on many occasions.

Mr. Daugherty was frequently assailed in congress, one of the attacks culminating in impeachment proceedings, but he was exonerated by the house by a one-sided vote. He was assailed for the alleged part he played in obtaining the release from Atlanta prison of Charles W. Morse during the Taft administration and was constantly under attack by or against labor, particularly after he used the injunction in trying to break up the rail strike in 1922.

EXHIBITS BOLD STROKE

Officials of the American Federation of Labor appeared in the inquiry to support the attack on the injunction obtained in Chicago against the rail strikers. The attorney general's friends claimed this one of his boldest strokes in protecting public interest, while his enemies condemned the action most vigorously. He insisted also that he had acted as a sincere friend of labor.

There was much controversy, too, over Daugherty's ruling that foreign ships could not bring liquor stores into American waters and that American ships must remain dry wherever they may be. Only the former of these two propositions was upheld by the supreme court.

Recently there have been repeated attacks on the department of justice in regard to delays and failures to convict in the war fraud cases.

The war fraud prosecutions and the delay in prosecuting those accused in the Veterans bureau and oil inquiries were among the specific questions referred to in the resolution of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, ordering the senate investigation.

Mr. Daugherty was born at Washington Court House, O., and passed his sixty-fourth birthday last January 26.

SECOND LETTER

A second letter from Mr. Daugherty to the president was made public later at the department of justice:

"Under separate cover I have just handed you my formal resignation as attorney general of the United States to take effect forthwith. Now that I am no longer a member of your cabinet, I feel constrained, as a private citizen, in all kindness, to call certain matters to your attention.

Your request, Mr. President, for my resignation is based on grounds which seem to me untenable, as you will perhaps remember, I did not intend to seek your advice with regard to compliance with the demands of the senate committee for the indiscriminate delivery of the confidential files of the department of justice or parts thereof. As I explained to you, my duty was clear, for I had frequently been called upon to determine this question. My answer was ready, as I informed you and furnished you a copy thereof.

COUNSEL PRESIDENT

"My sole purpose in taking the matter up with you was to let you know the position I was compelled to take in the interest of the public business and for the protection of the government, that you might be in position to advise other departments, if similar requests were made, what course they should pursue.

"Your suggestion that I cannot function as attorney general and defend myself against these charges at the same time I believe is hardly warranted by the facts.

"You know that I have employed counsel at my expense to take the responsibility of representing me at the hearings before the senate committee in order that I could devote my time to the public business, which I have been doing continuously.

"Those employed in the department have given no time belonging to the government to this so-called investigation except to furnish data requested by the various congressional committees. The business of the department is at its peak in efficiency and accomplishment and I am prepared to demonstrate this fact before any tribunal if opportunity is afforded.

"DANGEROUS DOCTRINE"

"Your suggestion that an attack upon a cabinet officer disqualified him for further official service is a dangerous doctrine, Mr. President. All the pretended charges against me are false. But whether true or false, if a member of the cabinet is to be incapacitated or disqualified by the pre-ferment of charges against him no matter how malicious and groundless, and he is compelled to give up his responsible position and sacrifice his honor for the time being because of such attack, no man in any official position is safe and the most honorable, upright and efficient public servant could be swept from office and stable government destroyed by clamor."

According to statutes, James M. Beck, solicitor general, becomes acting attorney general until the president appoints a head for the department of justice. He assumed the duties of the attorney general immediately after Mr. Daugherty left Washington.

Chicago—Dan O'Leary expects to live to 110.

For 60 years Dan O'Leary has claimed the world's walking championship. He says he has stepped off 292,000 miles expects to add considerably to that total and is in no mood to surrender his title.

"I will get my full growth when I am 100," O'Leary says, "and will be up and going until I am 110. After that I am making no promises."

Here is Dan's formula adapted to his octogenarian habits:

Smoke only occasionally. Walk 10 or 15 miles a day. "I never stay in one place long enough to get stale," he says. "Life is always fresh for me. That is my secret."

man, of any age, for a 500-mile walking race, and is waiting to bet as much as $5000 on the result. "I can walk a mile in nine minutes," he claims, "and can average six miles an hour for two or three hours."

The veteran scorns canes, using a lathe stick or a folded newspaper to keep his hand balanced while walking, and he dislikes automobiles.

LEWIS WINNER IN CONTEST FOR HEISS TROPHY

Annual Contest Honoring War
Hero Is Held in High School

Maurice Lewis won the silver cup trophy given by the class of 1916 to the winner of the Heiss contest at Appleton high school Friday morning. His oration was "The Foundation of Peace."

Second place was given to Richard Neiler who gave "The Law of the Land" and third place to Robert Pugh, who gave "The Christ of the Andes." The other participants were Miss Teresa Henzlik and Carl Engler. The judges were Dr. D. O. Kinsman, Dr. J. A. Holmes and W. S. Ford.

George Dame represented the class which sponsors the contest and told of its purpose, before the orations were given. He said that the contest honored not only "Bill" Heiss who was a member of the class of 1916 but also all the young men of high ideals who gave their lives for their country during the war. Mr. Dame said one of the reasons for great shame in the morning following the war was that men of the caliber of Heiss were killed in great numbers. He urged the students to turn out to patriotic and civic affairs thus taking their part in the life of the city while they are still in school.

STUDENTS WILD AS TEAM GOES TO MEET

Manitowoc—One student has been indefinitely suspended, parents of many students are aroused and a saloon keeper and his bartender were served with warrants Thursday afternoon as result of intoxication of several high school pupils this week on the eve of the high school basketball team's departure for the state tournament at Madison.

The arrest of the saloon keeper, Charles J. Reitmeyer, and his bartender, Paul Meyer, who are charged with possession and sale of liquor, resulted from an investigation made by Prof. C. G. Stangel and faculty of the high school when the students implicated attended classes in a condition unfit for study.

A score of students were called before the faculty and it is said admitted having bought the liquor at the Reitmeyer saloon. District Attorney Brady was notified and warrants were issued for Reitmeyer and Meyer's arrest.

Parents of the pupils involved have asked for a thorough probe of the matter. Although the alleged drunkenness occurred at the time when the basketball team was about to leave for Madison, members of the team are absolved from participation in the affair, according to Prof. Stangel. Reitmeyer conducts the Glenn Inn, a well known downtown saloon and boarding house.

A motor truck belonging to Wisconsin Distributing company of Appleton became stalled on the interurban track of the Wisconsin Light, Heat & Power company in the village of Little Chute Wednesday morning and blocked the track for a long period.

Delicious Meat Dinners Can Be Prepared At Low Cost By Careful Buying

Appleton Markets Crowded with Good Things to Eat and Prices Are Reasonable—Vegetables on market.

There are always many good things housewives can cook if they want to pay the price, but there are lots of other good things in the market now that can be cooked that don't cost as much. Just to go into a meat market and look at the meats on display doesn't inspire one to write poetry, but when the butchers start to tell of the luscious things that may be prepared from ordinary beefsteak and chops, there is unlimited possibilities to rave.

If you don't have to keep a tight rein on your pocketbook you might try fillet of beef for your Sunday dinner. Fillet of beef is the tenderloin, loaded in other words, strips of pork are drawn through the meat. This sells at 75 cents a pound.

Another of the more expensive pieces of meat is pork tenderloin, which averages at 75 cents a pound and veal tenderloin at the same price. You can have the tenderloin shaved or cut into a thin sheet, spread it with your favorite dressing, roll it up and roast it.

THIS IS VEAL SEASON

Veal patties are good and are less expensive. You can get the meat for patties at 40 cents a pound. Veal is at its best season right now and most of the local markets have many suggestions for cooking this meat. There are so many appetizing dishes that can be prepared from veal, veal birds, veal cutlets, breaded veal steak and veal brochet. Veal brochet ranges from 12 to 18 cents a pound and three pounds will serve a family of six. Your butcher will cut a pocket in the brochet for you and it can be stuffed with a dressing made of bread crumbs, chopped pork, onions and seasoning.

If you fancy a stew cooked with vegetables you can purchase veal and beef steaks at 12 1/2 to 15 cents a pound. Many of the new vegetables on the market can be used with steaks, and it may be interesting to know that new carrots cost 15 cents a bunch and beets sell at 10 cents a bunch.

Crown of lamb costs from 45 to 50 cents a pound and makes an attractive roast. Some of the markets carry paper rosettes to decorate the ribs. They sell at 10 cents a dozen and can be had in most any color.

ROAST WITH ONIONS

If a different taste is desired in a roast of beef you might try roasting large Spanish onions with it. These sell at 15 cents a pound. Bacon is at all prices now, with an average of 30 cents a pound. Sometimes you can and hungry, so if you're a mind to roast sweet potatoes you can buy them at two pounds for a quarter. Root celery sells at 15 and 20 cents a pound. Cauliflower is listed at 15, 25 and 35 cents, green beans at 25 cents a pound, radishes at 10 and 12 cents a bunch, green onions at 12 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 35 cents each, green peppers at 10 and 15 cents, and tomatoes at 25 cents a pound.

Parsley is often used to garnish meat and it sells at 10 cents a bunch. Spinach may be bought for 15 and 25 cents a pound, rutabagas at 5 cents a pound and turnips at 10 cents a pound.

AN AMENDMENT THAT SHOULD CARRY
On April 1st the people of Wisconsin are asked to vote upon a proposed amendment to the state constitution to change the salary of members of their legislature.
The present salary of $500 per term is equivalent to $2.72 for each of the 184 days that the 1923 legislature was in session. All other Wisconsin legislatures of the last ten years have been in session more than 184 days and the pay of their members, consequently, was even less than $2.72 per day. No other state pays the members of its legislature at so low a rate. Kansas and Oregon, next to Wisconsin at the bottom of the list, pay $3.00 per day and every other state at least $4.00 per day or more.
In Wisconsin the framers of the constitution of 1848 fixed the salary of the members of the legislature at $2.50 per day. In 1867 this was changed to $350 per year and in 1881 to $500 for the term of two years.
Since 1881 the population of the state has doubled and its wealth increased twenty-fold. This increase in population and wealth has led to a corresponding increase in the volume of legislative business. In contrast with a regular session of 85 days in 1882, the first legislature which met after the $500 salary was fixed, the regular sessions of several of the legislatures of the last ten years have exceeded 200 days. Special sessions, moreover, have become frequent. Members are not paid for special sessions.
While the amount of time which the members of the legislature must devote to their duties is now very much greater than in 1881, the purchasing power of the salary which they receive has decreased by more than one-half. While in 1881 members could rent rooms in Madison for $1.00 per week and could get board for $4.00 per week or less, they must now pay at least $5.00 per week or more for a room and $7.00 to $15.00 per week for board.
The pending amendment was passed unanimously by the legislatures of 1921 and 1923, and has the support of all political parties and factions in the state. No date of opposition has been expressed against this amendment. Because there is no organization actively pushing this amendment, however, it may, nevertheless, be defeated; this should be avoided.
The powers of the state legislature are so important that election to the legislature should be regarded as one of the highest honors within gift of the people. Because of the low salary however, the positions in the legislature in many districts have in recent years "gone begging," and it has become increasingly difficult to get the strongest men in the community to become candidates. Many of the members elected to the legislature, moreover, come with the idea of serving but a single term and refuse to be candidates for re-election. In consequence, two-thirds or more of the members of each legislature are new members without previous legislative experience.
The amendment to be voted on April 1st involves more than fair dealing on the part of the people with their servants. In the analysis it raises a question of good government, with all of the evidence supporting the conclusion that the founders of this country were correct when they adopted the policy of paying legislators a sufficient salary to compensate them reasonably for time spent in the service of the public. This is what the pending amendment proposes to do and why it should be adopted at the election on April 1st.

MAY DAY FOR CHILD HEALTH
May Day will be children's day. The first of May has been dedicated to the health and happiness of America's childhood. President Coolidge has so proclaimed it. A nation rises and falls by the health of its children. Every time the light of a young life is snuffed out, the house of state should be darkened in sorrow. For the bereavement of the poorest family is likewise the loss of the nation.
Whenever a child dies, the world has been denied a citizen. Perhaps a great teacher, a healer, a man of affairs, a leader, a prophet, or a potential mother has been lost. Such a loss it is impossible to estimate, for it is irreplaceable. Mere living can scarcely be considered a blessing. It is usually only the healthy, vigorous, happy life that is a boon to the individual, the family and the state.
Good health is easy of attainment when one is young. The early years of life are building years. If a child's health is guarded during these years, it will be strengthened for all of the rest of his life. But if it is neglected during this formative period, the most that can be hoped for, after adulthood has been reached, is to put an expensive job of repairing on a poor foundation of health.
Young hearts, lungs, muscles and digestive tracts acquire good and bad habits as surely as young minds do. Good health habits in children are as easily formed as poor ones, and the responsibility for their formation rests upon the parents of the child.
It is hoped that the ideal of the American Child Health association, which has launched the May Day for child health movement, will be realized. If every mother and father will consider on May Day the importance of the health of their children, from this time on, there will be thousands more children in the United States regularly eating more wholesome food, playing happily every day out of doors, sleeping longer hours in airy rooms, brushing their teeth regularly, getting a bath frequently and having at least one thorough medical health examination a year. These every child has a right to demand, but unfortunately cannot provide for himself.

ACCUMULATING CAPITAL
The Benjamin Franklin endowment has proved to be one of the most valuable arguments to the people to save their money. Newspaper men of Dallas, Texas, are advertising "capital from savings" by applying the Franklin idea to raise a fund of $40,000,000 from $2.50.
The Gutenberg Foundation has been organized, and $2.50 deposited in a bank. It is computed that the $2.50 will amount to $40,000,000 in about five hundred years. No additional capital will be deposited. The $2.50 will grow to $40,000,000 simply by the compounding of the interest. The large fund will be used to endow "an instrument for the diffusion of public information."
Earning money and saving money are the two ways to make money. Earning money by work or invention is the process by which capital is acquired in the first place. That which is accumulated as a surplus, as the balance after buying what is needed and desired, is the nucleus of capital. Capital multiplies itself. Money earns money.
The first and simple plan of building up a little capital and learning how to save money is by opening a savings account. It makes no difference whether the amount deposited is much or little, it is the foundation of wealth, it is the beginning of accumulation of capital, it is the first step toward personal independence.
Although we are the most extravagant nation in the world, we have developed the saving habit in a remarkable degree in recent years. Savings accounts have increased steadily in number and total, life insurance has increased, and home ownership has increased.
Everybody must be impressed by the demonstration of the rapid and wonderful growth of a small to a large amount by the mere accretion to capital from interest. It is a practical lesson which conveys forcibly the advantages of saving a little money every week or month.
Professor in St. Paul, Minn., says children are as good as their parents were, which will disappoint many parents.
The most important culture right now is agricultural.

AROMATIC SPIRITS OF AMMONIA
No. 7 item in the medicine cupboard, the stock and uses of which in the home care of minor ailments and emergencies we are talking about in Tuesday and Friday lessons, is aromatic spirits of ammonia, which may be considered a mobilized form of "smelling salts." "Smelling salts" is, am or ammonium carbonate mainly, with a dash of lavender scent. Well, aromatic spirit of ammonia is practically smelling salts dissolved in alcohol, with some further flavoring with lemon, and nutmeg oils as well as the lavender. It is as effective as smelling salts for fainting or shock, when inhaled, but it may be readily administered internally as well.
The best and quickest stimulant to administer for fainting or shock or collapse from any cause is from 1/4 to 1 teaspoonful of aromatic spirit of ammonia in about a wineglassful of cold water, provided the patient will drink when the glass or cup is brought to the lips. If the patient can't or won't drink, pour the aromatic spirit on your handkerchief or hand and let him inhale the fumes as concentrated as possible. If he won't breathe, then you'll have to make him breathe, and if you don't just know how to do that now you will know before we finish this course, I hope. There's a way to make 'em breathe, you know even if they're quiet dead, and it must be a terrible load on a person's conscience to know that he or she might have saved a life in a dreadful moment but didn't know how.
Most insect stings or bites are relieved by touching with a drop of aromatic spirits of ammonia.
Very weak solutions of ammonia in water will relieve the itching of hives and similar affections of the skin—a teaspoonful of aromatic spirit of ammonia in a pint of water, sponged on the skin with soft friction.
Small doses—5 to 10 drops in a few spoonfuls of cold water at intervals of 15 minutes will relieve the sour stomach and bloating and noisy eructations which some persons have when indulging in a "nervous" spell.
Aromatic spirit of ammonia has a certain reputation of quickly sobering a drunken person—in case somebody takes by mistake an overdose of a "female remedy" or "nerve tonic."
Speaking of drunkenness, once in a while a case of aromatic ammonia tipping is discovered—some one who insists on taking a dose of this preparation several times every day. It contains enough alcohol, perhaps, to answer a craving for alcohol, but the other stuff in it—well, the habit reminds me how we boys used to trudge four weary miles through the heat of summer to go swimming and get cooled off and then walk four wearier miles back home.
Aromatic spirit of ammonia stimulates the breathing center and the heart, quickly but for only a brief space, serving as well when inhaled as when swallowed. It should be given in every case where somebody may suggest pouring whisky into the luckless patient. It rightfully belongs in the family medicine chest under the motto which is carved over the medicine cupboard—"Do good if you can but do no harm,"—a motto which naturally rules out whisky.
Since the ammonium carbonate and other constituents of aromatic spirit of ammonia are volatile, the bottle must be kept very tightly corked or well stoppered, lest it lose its strength and remedial value on standing a long time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Hair Dye
Please recommend some good hair dye or coloring, and is there any danger of it affecting the eyelight? We prefer to do this work ourselves at home, not by a hair dresser (Anonymous Reader).
Answer—Never again. I did once and I guess I paid for it for any woman kept writing mean letters about it for a year afterward—not to me, worse luck, but to the publishers. I advise you to leave the difficult task of dyeing, or if you prefer to call it coloring the hair, to the hands of a barber or hair dresser of experience and standing.
Gad Needed
I would like your advice on smoking. I have a boy 15 1/2 years old; he wants to smoke and I'm very much against smoking as I have read that smoking stunts his brains. (Mrs. E. M.)
Answer—Better apply the gad and make it snappy. The boy has a wrong start.

SPRING POEM
In the spring of the year,
When the blood is too thick,
There is nothing so rare
As the sassafras stick.
It cleans up the liver,
It strengthens the heart,
And to the whole system
New life doth impart.
Sassafras, ah, sassafras!
That are the stuff for me.
And in the spring I love to sing,
Sweet sassafras, of thee.
—James B. Elmore

This is the opening season for spring poets. The foregoing spring poem skyrocketed James Elmore, "the sweet singer of the Alamo," to national fame. In his own apparent sassafras tea surpassed even Beck beer in the popularity contest for the national spring beverage. We doubt it.

Yes, spring is here, both officially and otherwise. We discovered it yesterday when we tried for three minutes to get across College-ave at Appleton-st. Did you ever see so many cars since Jan 1?

Doc Thompson, the poetical physician, doesn't take much stock in sassafras tea, for, says he,
Each spring we swallow,
Our sassafras tea,
Which has nothing to do
With longevity.

Spring Hint
Spring or no spring, we should not exactly advise anybody to take 'em off yet.

All that spring means to the farmers is that this is the beginning of the sixteen-hour workday for them. Here's a bit of consolation, though. Watch out for a late frost, for you may catch your self getting up too early that day.

Who doesn't find it hard to get up in the winter—also in the spring, summer and autumn?

The man around the corner helps his wife with the spring housecleaning and carpet beating, for the sake of appearances. He should be able to show off to great advantage by investing in a vacuum cleaner and let it do the dirty work.

Health Hint
Never take a bath in the spring, unless of course, the spring is shut off from the view of the public.

You'll never know for the next few weeks whether a woman has her hair bobbed or not, for she will be running around with a cloth on her head and a broom in her hand. ROLLO.

Electric Shock Keeps Big Fish From Death Trap
(Alfred Powers, in St. Nicholas.)
Each year millions of dollars' worth of salmon and trout are to be saved in Washington by the installation in the irrigation ditches of simple electric stops.
The fruitful Yakima valley and other irrigated sections of Washington that get their life-giving waters from the mighty Columbia have heretofore raised products of the soil with an accompanying sacrifice of at least $2,000,000 worth of food fish annually. This has been a tremendous sum to set against the value of the harvesters of the fields; but while this whole sale destruction of salmon and trout seemed nothing short of criminal waste, there appeared no practicable way of stopping it.
The fish with their impelling instinct to go up-stream infested the irrigation ditches literally by the hundred of thousands. In countless hordes, they entered and ascended the flooded waterways. When migration into the ditches was always suicidal. When the water receded, they found themselves stranded and gasping, and millions of them perished, shriveling up in the sun on the rocks and in the dry channels of the ditches. Thus annually, for several years, this waste has occurred.
But now a cheap and simple electric device is to put a stop to all this destruction. It is called the Burkey electric fish stop. It is run with a small paddle wheel, gathering its own power, the electricity traveling from one bank to the other. Electrodes are placed on each bank.
When a wandering salmon, seeking to enter an irrigation ditch, gets into the electrified zone, he receives a thrill in his vertebrae that causes him to change his mind about going any further. He gets out as fast as you would pull your finger from contact with a red hot stove. He doesn't care to navigate a stream with a kick in it like that. The current is not strong enough to kill or injure him, but it is sufficient strong to make him feel for the moment that he is headed in the wrong direction and make him seek a home somewhere besides in an irrigation ditch.

WORK OUT ROAD TAXES
Editor Post-Crescent—Sherwood, Wis.
We take off our hat to the crippled young lady who got up in a recent town meeting and demanded an explanation, as to why she had been deprived of her constitutional rights and discriminated against, in that she as a taxpayer was not given an opportunity to have her road taxes worked in labor in the same manner as other taxpayers, where it had become a town law by the vote of the people to grant that privilege to all. The appointed pathmasters were to notify each taxpayer of the amount of their tax and give them an opportunity to work their road taxes in labor. When called upon to answer to the charge the pathmaster had to admit before the entire assemblage that he had not notified the crippled young lady and given her a chance to have her road work performed in labor thus saving her a cash outlay. This lady was not only voicing her own protest but also the protest of numerous other taxpayers who were treated likewise.

Q. When Ray Harroun won the first 500-mile race at Indianapolis, did he drive the entire distance himself?
F. S.
A. The Indianapolis Motor Speedway Co. says that Ray Harroun, who won the first 500-mile race at Indianapolis, driving a Marmon car, which had a one seated body, was relieved at about two hundred and fifty miles by Cyrus Fatsche, who drove for a little more than one hundred miles.
We remember distinctly that a resolution was introduced at a recent town election by which every pathmaster would be required to take an oath of office, and that no person would be permitted to work another's road taxes without the written consent of the taxpayer. The intention of this resolution was to do away with the chance of dishonesty by unscrupulous pathmasters.

ARE WOMEN 100 PER CENT EFFICIENT

How many women do you know who are one hundred per cent efficient? That means every nerve and every of the body pulsating with life and health as nature intended. Do you not know more who are half dead and half alive, with aches, pains, nervous, irritable and despondent, making themselves miserable and every one around them? Women in this condition should let Lydia E. The case against Vickery, which had been going on in Circuit court for the last three days, attracted much attention locally.

The charge arose from a gravel hauling contract let to Henry Caeleuarts in the proceeds of which, it was claimed, Vickery had a share.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:

I am 43 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rushes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically I admit, your Krumble Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemas, no more Old Dr. So-and-So's Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., ad infinitum! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully, L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

FIND 23 HEALTHY OF 150 EXAMINED

Majority of Persons Examined at Health Clinic in Need of Attention

Kaukauna — Nearly 150 persons were examined at the free chest and orthopedic clinics held at Kaukauna last Friday and Saturday, and of these twenty-four or nearly one-sixth were placed in the tuberculosis classification. It was reported by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Five of these twenty-four patients had active cases of tuberculosis; four were classified as suspicious cases, that is cases in which no positive diagnosis could be made upon one examination but in which all physical findings and personal history pointed to tuberculosis; one quiescent case; seven cases of healed lesions; one case of tuberculous glands; one case of suspicious tracheobronchial glands; one case of tuberculosis of the bone; and four cases of tuberculous hips and knees. The latter four cases were diagnosed in the orthopedic clinic.

Decayed teeth, pyorrhea, diseased tonsils, sore throats, enlarged glands and nose and throat disorders were found to be more common than other diseases. The percentage of cases of organic heart disease was somewhat higher than usually found at clinics. Thirty-five persons needed vaccination, and only 23 of all those examined were pronounced in excellent health while 80 were referred to their family physicians for observation or treatment. Six of those in the tuberculosis classification were urged to take sanatorium treatment as the best, safest and quickest method of regaining their health.

The clinic, perhaps the most successful ever held in Kaukauna was financed by the Kaukauna Chamber of Commerce.
The doctors in charge were T. L. Harrington, H. M. Coon, H. S. Schunm and Francis P. Dolan. A large group of nurses and members of the local women's committee assisted the doctors by taking histories and preparing the patients for examination.

Among the Kaukauna ladies who worked were Mesdames W. H. Hohmann, C. D. Boyd, Frank Kern, William Van Lelshout, Roy Nelson, F. M. Charlesworth, Jr., John Smith, Gordon Mitholund, A. Piephurn, and the Misses Thelen, Hall, Martha Haus and Miss Murphy.
The nurses employed included Mrs. James O'Connell, city nurse; Miss H. Hennicke, Miss C. Fox, Riverdale sanatorium nurse; Miss J. Barclay, Miss F. Whipple, Appleton; Mrs. A. Lank, Mrs. A. Reith and Miss J. Bell, Kaukauna.

KAUKAUNA HAPPY OVER SUCCESS OF MIDWINTER FAIR

Treasurer Has About $160 to Pay Unpaid Bills—Amundsen Praises City

Kaukauna — Exceedingly gratifying reports by committees in charge of Kaukauna's first annual Midwinter fair were given at the weekly meeting of the Advancement association Thursday evening in the council chambers. While the report of the finance committee was only tentative, yet it was revealed that there is a balance on hand of approximately $160 to cover such items of minor expense which thus far may have been overlooked by the committee. Total receipts of the fair amounted to $1,457.50 while the disbursements were $1,296.43.
The association went on record with a hearty vote of thanks to everyone who participated in the event for the splendid cooperation and unselfish spirit of service which was shown. Robert Amundsen, county agent, and John T. Timmers, "daddy" of the Midwinter fair who was responsible for its inception, were tendered rising votes of thanks by the association.

PRaises KAUKAUNA

In his report Mr. Amundsen was unqualified in his praise of the way in which this community puts over big events. He referred to the pageant to show that anything attempted here is usually carried out in the biggest style possible. With reference to the farm exhibits Mr. Amundsen declared there were more entries and better quality produce than is usually shown. The fact that it was the first event of its kind in this city made its success all the more remarkable, he said.
It is hard to estimate how many persons attended the fair or inspected the exhibits. On Friday evening $15 admission tickets were sold in the auditorium and on Saturday there were only three less. In his report, John Coppes, chairman of the finance committee, suggested that at least 8,000 people attended the fair in all its departments.

NEED MORE ROOM

When Mr. Timmers was called upon he stated that had the roads been in fit condition for travel the fair buildings would have been utterly swamped with visitors. He suggested that arrangements for a great deal more space must be the first consideration for next year's fair if it is to be made bigger and better.

Details of the report of the finance committee by John Coppes were as follows:
Receipts—County board appropriation, $700; gate admissions for Friday evening, $203.50; admissions for Saturday evening, $203; booth rental, $214; cash subscriptions, $136.50. Total income, $1,457.50.
Disbursements—Farm exhibits prizes, $225; school exhibits prizes, $39.25; entertainment and auditorium expenses, $301; advertising and printing, Kaukauna Times, $135; M. A. Raught, $71; Appleton Post-Crescent, $48; health clinic expenses, $225; women's exhibits prizes, $91.90; baby show prizes and expenses, $15. Total disbursements, $1,296.43. The report, however, is only tentative. Mr. Coppes said. It is expected complete returns will be available by next Thursday.

Incidental reports and remarks were made by Malachi Ryan, N. M. Haupt, chairman of the feed committee and M. J. Verfurth, chairman of the advertising committee. That committee, composed of Mr. Verfurth, A. R. Firehammer and J. O. Fosson, was commended for its splendid work in spreading the news of the fair over the entire county.

What's Best for a Bad Stomach

Nine-tenths of all stomach trouble—indigestion, sourness, gas, pain, heartburn, etc., are caused by an excess of acid in the stomach.
Artificial digestants, such as popsin, are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids, and instead neutralize the acid that has upset your stomach with a spoonful or two of pure Bisurated Magnesia, taken with a little water. This instantly sweetens the stomach and stops the pain and discomfort and your food digests as nature intended. For quick positive relief from Acid Stomach.

PARENTS, FRIENDS WATCH STUDENTS WORK IN SCHOOL

Regular School Session Is Part of Parent-Teachers Assn. Program

Kaukauna—Both assembly rooms of the new high school were crowded Thursday evening with parents and citizens who took advantage of the opportunity of observing the high school and and seventh and eighth grades in session. The students had been granted a half day holiday Thursday afternoon but were required to report at 7:30 Thursday evening to attend classes for two periods.
The regular assembly period of the high school followed the two class periods and the programs scheduled for Thursday morning were held then. In the east assembly the program was opened with a cornet solo by Freddie Hille, accompanied on the piano by Lucille Look. Violet Redman followed with a vocal selection after which two humorous readings were given by Catherine Mayer. The program closed with the school singing "Kaukauna We Love You." Elizabeth Gossens was chairman.

In west assembly a song by six girls opened the meeting after which Frances Kosturik played a piano solo. Two readings "Mistle's Wants and Wishes" and "The Broken Hearted Deutchman" were given by Laura Zwick. Naomi Becker rendered a violin selection to close the program. Vira Pleshek was chairman and Cordell Runte was secretary of the meeting.
The monthly business session of the association followed at which a communication of thanks from Mrs. O. A. Look and family was read. C. D. Towler was elected treasurer to succeed Mr. Look.
The committee in charge of the program for next meeting will be S. N. Enghildt, Olin G. Dryer, Miss Esther O'Boyle, Mrs. John Regentuss and Mrs. R. M. Radsch. A vote of thanks was tendered the teachers for their assistance in carrying on the program.

The very day you start to use Calumet Baking Powder your baking expenses reduce.

The price of Calumet is not the only reason for its economy—it's the great leavening strength it possesses—the unfailing results that are always experienced when it is used, that's what counts.

Never use heaping spoonfuls when you bake with Calumet—it isn't necessary because one spoonful of Calumet does the work of two of many other brands.

Why should you run the risk of spoiling your bakings by using a leavener that has not proven its merits—that may mean success today and failure tomorrow? Don't experiment—use Calumet. It makes more bakings—goes farther and lasts longer. Its superior quality has stood out above all other baking powders for many years.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

One Seymour Family Gives Six Men To Newspaper Profession

Over in the city of Seymour they sing more praises for H. J. VanVuren than for the distinction of being publisher of its newspaper, the Seymour Press. Mr. Van Vuren is a nationally famous dad, not because he raised a family of record size, but because all of his five boys followed his own profession and have become editors or newspaper writers.

Trade papers of the newspaper world and other publications all over the country have displayed the picture herewith, acclaiming the fact as unique that the entire family showed aptitude for the journalistic profession.

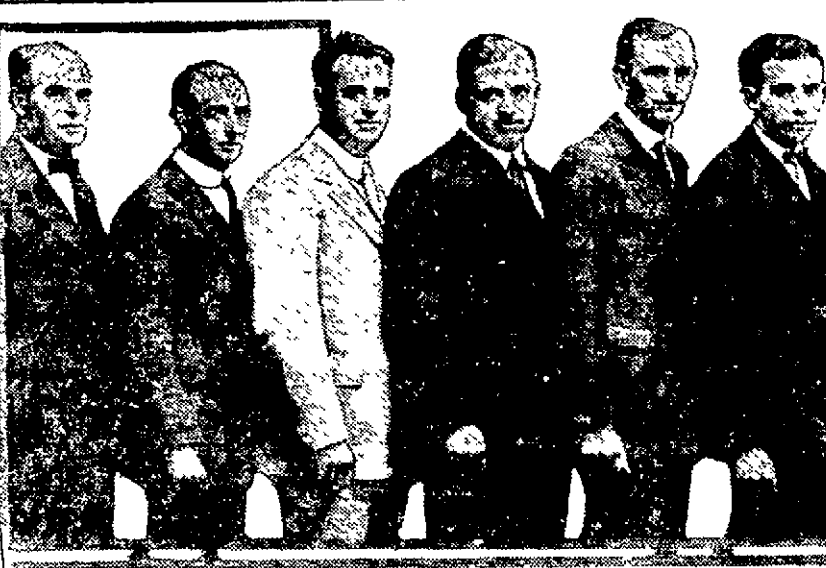

Dad himself has been a publisher for a long time. He established the Seymour Press in a small way July 8, 1886 and will celebrate the thirty-eighth anniversary of its founding this year. He has kept adding new machinery so as to keep abreast of the times and now has a printing plant that would do credit to a much larger city.

One son, H. C. VanVuren, is editor of the Bondell Times, Bondell. Another, G. W. Van Vuren, has a large printing plant at Chippewa Falls. R. P. VanVuren edits the Markesan Herald, Markesan. C. A. Van Vuren is associated with his father at Seymour, and F. S. VanVuren is in the editorial department of the Milwaukee Journal.

There is no astounding secret in my having been able to make newspaper men of my sons," said H. J. Van Vuren. "Each of them when younger was employed in my office. Living in a farming community where the farm labor shortage was felt, I have been asked often, 'How do you succeed in keeping the boys satisfied in your employ?' The answer is simple. During working hours they cease to be my sons and I cease to be their father. I expect of them the same quality of work I would receive from any stranger employed in my office. They learn they are not to expect any favors as my sons during working hours. They receive pay only in proportion to their abilities and if at any time their work proves unsatisfactory, they are as likely as anyone else to be fired.

"Constant association with newspaper work, I believe, is the primary reason why they all have been willing to follow in my footsteps.

Three of the boys started out in different occupations but eventually came back to the publishing field, perhaps, the father says, because of the peculiar fascination of the print shop and the editorial office imbued within them. G. W. VanVuren owned and operated successfully a lumber and building material yard in northern Wisconsin. C. A. VanVuren was in the garage business in Seymour. Fred VanVuren was a student of architecture for several years at the University of Illinois.

Inspiration Of Noted Song Is Dead In East

The woman who inspired the music of the song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," died last week in a Brooklyn rooming house. She was Mrs. Harriet Danks, widow of Hart P. Danks, the composer. The words of this song were written by Eben Rexford of Shiocton, however.

So obscurely had Mrs. Danks lived that her death was not known to the nation until two days later. She was 82 years old and was estranged from her children. Her husband died in 1903 and was at the time also estranged from his wife, to whom in 1874 he had composed the love song written by the Shiocton poet who also is no longer living.

After Mr. Danks' death law suits over royalties from the well known song brought about the estrangement of Mrs. Danks from her three children.

CHANCE TO GET IN RAIL MAIL SERVICE

An examination long looked for by a number of Appleton aspirants will take place at the Appleton postoffice under the auspices of the local United States civil service commission on Saturday, May 3, according to an announcement by Herman J. Franck, local secretary.

This is an examination for railway postal clerk. This position as a rule holds an unusual attraction for young men, especially unmarried men, and a number of them train for the work by taking a correspondence course. The correspondence courses are not frowned upon by the postal department, but the department warns against any offers of "steering" candidates through the examination and bringing influence to bear upon the commission towards an appointment.

Salaries carried by these positions are somewhat above the average in the postal department. For the entrance salary is $1,500, as compared with $1,400 in other branches, and the maximum salary also is higher than the $1,800 of other postal clerks.

Positions are open to successful candidates at such division points as Milwaukee, St. Paul, Chicago, Sioux City, Ia., and more distant points. Application blanks may be secured at the postoffice from Mr. Franck.

BALLOTS HERE O. K. SECRETARY RULES

Although reprinting of ballots for Tuesday's election will be necessary in several counties, Outagamie co will not be subjected to this extra expense, for the ballots ordered printed here by John F. Hantschel, county clerk were found to comply with the secretary of state's instructions which seemed to confuse a number of the county clerks in the state.

Failure in some counties to designate "principles" under names of delegate candidates and misunderstanding as to the number of Republican delegate at large to be elected make some ballots already printed illegal. Under the law candidates for delegates to the national party conventions must be designated on the ballot as "LaFollette Progressive Republicans," "Coolidge for President," "strict enforcement of national prohibition," or other indications of opinion.

Fellowship of Prayer

FRIDAY Evaluating the Golden Rule

Read Mt. 7:21. Text: 7:12. All things therefore whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them.

"God seems to have ordained that help shall often pass from himself to a man in need through another man, in order that in this way brotherhood may be built up in the world and men be bound together in a world unity. Being saved through 'believing in Jesus Christ' involves also the vital righting of all social relationships, because in Jesus Christ is expressed God's great passion for a truly social life."

MEDITATION: Building the brotherhood is building the kingdom of God. This is where life's commitments are to be worthy of being built into the brotherhood we must be unselfish. This is the test of our value. Not what a man is worth to himself, but to others, determines whether or not he is worth saving.

PERSONAL QUESTION: How far is my life governed by the Golden Rule?

PRAYER: Our Heavenly Father, we pray that our lives may be more fruitful in good-will and charity. May we not go as pilgrims of a lonely way, but as a glad company of children of the light. May thy kingdom not seem unreal and far away, but may we together with all thy children, be partakers of thy spirit and shiners of thy grace, through Christ. Amen.

MUST DIM HEADLIGHTS TO AVOID ARREST IN ILLINOIS

A warning to motorists in connection with the new dimming law passed by the state legislature of Illinois is given in a letter to Chief of Police George T. Pryn by J. N. Nolz, commissioner of public safety of the city of Waukegan. The Waukegan official says that they want to extend every courtesy to visiting motorists from Wisconsin but the dimming law will be rather strictly enforced. It provides that on approaching another motor vehicle proceeding in opposite direction and when within not less than two hundred and fifty feet of same any person in charge of a motor vehicle equipped with electric headlight or headlights, shall dim, drop or extinguish such headlight or headlights. The Waukegan man says that they take no pleasure in making arrests and would rather that motorists watch their step and observe the law.

TANLAC SAVED MY LIFE, SAYS MRS. VIRGINIA HAHN

Only Surviving Child of Famous Pioneer Gives Tanlac Full Credit for Recovery — Is Well and Strong at 75.

"That I am enjoying such splendid health at seventy-five I can attribute only to the help I have received from Tanlac," is the striking statement of Mrs. Virginia Bridger Hahn, 2849 East 7th St., Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Hahn is the only surviving child of James Bridger, famous pioneer surveyor and engineer, to whose memory a monument has been erected in Washington cemetery by officials of the Union Pacific railroad for his work in locating a right-of-way for the Union Pacific in the Rocky mountains.

Being asked if she was willing for her experience with Tanlac to be published, Mrs. Hahn said: "Yes, indeed, for I firmly believe the medicine saved my life. Following an attack of flu two years ago I remained prostrate and helpless, and grew weaker instead of better. My condition was one of weakness and exhaustion, no appetite, stomach disorders, and extreme nervousness.

"It seemed that everything was done for me that could be, but I just could not get on my feet again until I tried Tanlac. Then I was soon well, strong and happy. I take Tanlac occasionally now and my good health is the talk of my friends. Gratitude prompts me to let every suffering person I can know about Tanlac."

CANADA IS SLOWLY RECOVERING FROM WAR DEPRESSION

Babson Sees Great Future for
Canada

Babson Park, Fla. — The first section of Roger W. Babson's findings for Canada appear today in his report on business conditions in the Eastern half of the Dominion.

"The close business connection between the Dominion of Canada and the United States is not fully appreciated by the business men of either country," says Mr. Babson. "As far as economic conditions are concerned the boundary lines does not count for a great deal. The difference between the two countries are due more largely to a different balance between manufacturing and agriculture. The first localities to recover from a business depression are the manufacturing centers. They become active and prosperous several months in advance of the regions which are merely producers of raw materials. Although manufacturing in Canada is being rapidly developed, nevertheless the Dominion as a whole may still be broadly classed as a producer of raw materials. Canada, therefore, lags behind the United States both on the upward and downward swing in general business. Because of this lag Canadians can use business conditions in the United States as a rough barometer of similar developments which may be expected to appear in the Dominion at a later date.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

"Thus far readjustment in the provinces has been rather deliberate, but the pace may quicken before the year is over. At present about 30 per cent of Canadian cities are doing more business than in the corresponding period a year ago. This figure will improve and Canada's business will not only increase in total amount but the activity will be more widely distributed throughout the Dominion. Advertising and selling should bring the best returns just now in the Eastern provinces. Industrial activity including mining and building should continue to improve during 1924.

"Canada has one advantage on the United States in that the readjustment following the War boom was not interfered with to so great an extent by an intermediate period of inflation. Canada is steadily getting back on a sound basis. A list of leading cities today shows that 26 out of 71 are doing a better business than they were a year ago. The significant point, however, is this. Canada's rating has steadily advanced from a low figure and may be counted upon to continue this improvement.

"Toronto, Montreal and Quebec are all good cities for sales efforts at present. The indications are that Toronto is destined to become the New York City of Canada, not only is it in a rich agricultural section but to the north of Toronto, in the Cobalt Region, are almost limitless mineral deposits. In addition to benefiting from the natural resources Toronto has a variety of manufacturing industries and a good jobbing trade.

"If I were a young man going to Canada today I should pioneer in this 'north country' where a great industrial center will some day be located. I do not mean by this that the other provinces of the Dominion do not offer opportunities. The whole country is growing and the great governmental interest in public work such as railroad construction, hydro electric developments and other projects will provide plenty of opportunity for all who are willing to work. The Welland Canal is being improved and important construction is being undertaken on other waterways. Consideration is being given to the opening of a route from the wheat regions to the prairie provinces to Fort Nelson on Hudson Bay. Resort regions are being developed with the improvement of highways.

"Industrially I find that electrical apparatus, metallic ores and machinery manufacturing are leading in activity. The hotel and restaurant business is good and pulp and paper industry is running about 5 per cent ahead of last year.

"Business men everywhere especially in the United States will watch the new Canadian sales tax. So far experiments along this line have been very satisfactory and many business men regard a scientific sales tax as a logical solution for tax difficulties of the United States.

"The new sales tax in Canada which went into effect January 1, 1924, calls for a payment of sales by importers, large producers, manufacturers and in some circumstances large wholesalers. When the manufacturer pays the tax, however, the wholesaler is exempt and when the wholesaler pays the tax the manufacturer is exempt. This will avoid the pyramiding of taxes which under the blundering system in the United States has hurt business. More over the Canadian sales tax does less to penalize efficiency and threaten enterprise than the suicidal income and surtax. Undoubtedly there are plenty rough spots in the new tax and only experience can perfect it. Fundamentally, however, it is sounder than an income tax. To me this intelligent procedure in the raising of necessary revenues is one more reason for being optimistic on the basic outlook for Canada. The United States takes great pride in its progress industrially but when it comes to economic policies we have much to learn from the Dominion.

VILLA'S "GOLD MINE?"

Francisco Villa, Mexico's most picturesque bandit chieftain, died a rich man. Troops of Gen. Roman Lopez, commandant of the federal garrison at Juarez, are busy digging for his buried gold and silver bullion. A letter telling how it had been dropped into an old well near Fort Hidalgo was found on a rebel officer recently executed. Lopez is sure it was written by Villa. It tells how 22 burros carried the precious load to the hitherto unknown cache. The hidden wealth is expected to total at least $50,000.

Drudgery Of Kitchen Is Killed By Modern Devices

New Machinery Has Made Housekeeping Interesting and Easy.

Now you're ready for act 2, scene 1. Theatrical presented is the kitchen aid and it does everything from mixing bread to freezing ice cream. It's your own. It certainly is true. Here are a few of the things it does. With the aid of electricity of course it chops meat and vegetables, grinds coffee, shreds potatoes and fruit, keeps whatever you are mixing, beating or whipping as hot or cold as required, strains soups and purees, gives sauces, cottage cheese and other things, chops ice, freezes ice cream, all with the least effort and minimum of time. Of course it is necessary to have all the attachments to have it perform all these things. The "blat" in the booklet that tells all about it says "It's simply wonderful!"

SIT WHILE YOU WORK

Oh my, Monday may be blue, but think of Tuesday, with Monday's washing to iron. But, dear lady, why worry if hubby can provide enough money to buy you an ironer or mangle. There isn't much to tell about the ironing machine, except that you can sit down while you work and thus save the price of iron tonic and be able to play with the children in the afternoon.

Perhaps it would have been best to start with Monday and tell you about the washer that washes the clothes and "saves them dry," but you'll hear about it now. The motor on this machine is simple, so that its repair in case it becomes out of order is quite easy. To wash your clothes you put them in a specially designed metal basket or spinner, with a capacity of seven sheets. In this slowly revolving basket the clothes are carried through the water, lifted and turned and dropped again into the hot water. If because the weather is poor and it is impossible to hang them out of doors, the water is let out of the machine, and spinner of tube is shifted, the motor started and in a few minutes the tube of clothes is wringer dry through the spinning process.

There ought to be two results to this story: One the housekeeper who finishes reading it and hasn't the money to buy all the things described in it will wonder why "some women get everything and others have hands looking like, well in plain words, like housework and lots of it, the other, the women who have all the household appliances and never have a chance to use them and will wonder why there should be any enthusiasm

Gray, Faded Hair Dark

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Every body uses this preparation now. Because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You draw the sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

LUMBER ARRIVING FOR JUNIOR SCHOOL

Excavation for East End Building Will Be Started at Once

Construction work on the east end junior high school, the contract for which was awarded to Nelson & Son Construction company of Minneapolis, is to commence at once. Three carloads of form lumber for the cement work has arrived and is being unloaded on the sidetrack of Ideal Lumber & Coal company, on Union-st.

They are so expensive that only the wealthy can afford them and because few wealthy women do their own housework they hardly can appreciate the labor and time saving those contrivances provide. It is nice to dream, especially for those who know what it means to blacken stoves and mix bread, of a kitchen spick and span and one that you would love to furnish.

First, imagine a kitchen cabinet, with lovely glass jars for everything staple in groceries. A cabinet that swings out for the sugar, another for the flour, glass receptacles for salt, pepper, spices, coffee and tea, a large cupboard below for pots and pans, a wide porcelain top that washes easily if anything spills on it and a comfortable seat before it so that you won't get tired.

There never was a person who had to wash and wipe dishes who hasn't longed for a dishwasher, or maybe her imagination has even gone as far as to scheme out the invention of such a machine. Ten minutes, and a pack of dishes washed and dried! This machine is built with trays on which the dishes are placed. After the dishes are in the machine you turn on the hot water, which is sprayed against them with a force that takes off hardened egg yolk and dried batter. To dry them the water is turned off and the steam and heat from the water, which is in a compartment below, dries the dishes.

There is a machine on the market now that can be installed in the home to furnish an artificial cooling system to the refrigerator. This is installed in the basement or elsewhere, is completely automatic, requires little attention, is equivalent to 100 pounds of ice per day and is economical. For the electric current costs less than the ice. But in this case it's the original cost, not the upkeep

MME. MELUIS WINS FAVOR IN EUROPE

Luella Meluis, American diva, known to Appleton people as Luella Chilson who as a girl made Appleton her home, has created a very favorable impression in Europe, especially in Vienna, according to information received by her friends. At her first appearance in Vienna, which is being recognized as the musical center of Europe, Mme Meluis was called back for seven encore numbers.

Her work in both concert and opera.

Three additional cars are expected before the end of the week.

The contract for excavation has been sublet to Frank Bartz, who will begin work as soon as the frost permits. A large number of men and teams will be employed in order to complete the job in as short time as possible.

J. C. Nelson, of Minneapolis, superintendent for Nelson & Son Construction company, has arrived in Appleton to take charge of the work and will make his temporary residence here.

STOP AT ARTERY
STREETS, POLICE
WARN MOTORISTS

Cars Should Be Stopped at Edge of Crosswalk to Protect Pedestrians

The arrival of spring and the gradual vanishing of snow on Appleton streets has brought about a resumption of motor traffic. Last Sunday hundreds of cars were seen traveling over highway 15 toward Kaukauna and also to Neenah.

After the slow pace to which motorists were restricted since Jan. 1, many of the drivers may now be tempted to relax a bit and take a chance at "stepping on her" or flit with sundry traffic laws.

Although the observance of arterial highway regulation is much more satisfactory than it was last fall when the ordinance became effective, police are cautioning reckless drivers against any disrespect for this law.

PEDESTRIAN'S VIEWS

Not a few motorists who stored their cars for the winter and hence have mingled among the class of the pedestrians for the last three months became thoroughly disgusted with the practices of certain drivers who seemed to take no notice of pedestrians at arterial highways.

The arterial highway ordinance aims to protect both the pedestrians and automobiles, it was pointed out. For that reason, drivers should come to a stop before they reach the crosswalk where pedestrians are crossing, it was declared by Chief George T. Prim. seems to be some doubt among motorists just where automobiles shall come to a stop. Some therefore stop almost near the center of the street which they intend to cross, or stop way back the arterial highway sign. The proper place to stop is the outer edge of the crosswalk or the building property line. The sign has been placed back some distance only to give drivers timely warning.

ALL MUST STOP

According to instruction issued from the police department, the arterial highway ordinance affects all vehicles and that includes horse drawn vehicles and bicycles. Motorists, driving on an arterial highway believe they have a clear way ahead, but neither their safety nor the safety of cyclists is assured if the latter persist in crossing an arterial highway without first coming to a full stop.

Although there is no parking ordinance forbidding autoists or busses parking so as to hide the arterial highway sign, this practice is as great a menace as the parking in front of a water hydrant, it was pointed out.

WANT UPPER RIVER
OPENED FOR BOATS

Government Officials and Riparian Will Hold Conference at Portage

Improvements of the upper Fox river will be discussed at a conference of federal government officials, riparian owners and the public at Portage next Wednesday afternoon. The meeting called by the government may result in a change of policy in regard to the future of the Fox river, it was announced.

According to Alan H. Tripp, president of the Association for Relief of High Water, government engineers have decided to ask congress to abandon navigation on the upper Fox river. The association, however, is in favor of further improvement for the purpose of continued navigation.

Portage interests are in favor of connecting the Wisconsin river with the Fox river through a system of locks to permit coal barges to navigate the Fox from Green Bay to Portage. It is said that New London people are in favor of similar proposals for a portion of the Wolf river.

NO PLEASURE IN COUNTRY DRIVING

Automobile traffic outside of Appleton still is a problem. Cars are getting a short distance from Kaukauna on the Green Bay road, without much difficulty but driving through to De Pere is a task that should not be attempted except in the case of grave emergency. An Appleton man drove through with a truck a few days ago and declared the going was almost impossible.

The road was not bad as far as Mr. Carthy's crossing where an enormous drift was encountered. A detour had been arranged through a field but the roadway was muddy. Drivers are warned that there is no pleasure in an automobile trip to Green Bay at this time.

The road is open from Neenah to Oshkosh but deep runs make driving difficult. The same is true of the road between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. Both highways 15 and 55 are passable from Fond du Lac to Milwaukee but the trip is far from a pleasant experience, according to the few drivers who made the trip.

Roads north and west of Appleton still are most difficult and there is practically no traffic over them. In places drifts are piled up five and six feet over the center of the road and traveling with sleighs is not comfortable.

FLORIDA

There is no Safe substitute for True Gasoline!

Two saucers—that's all the laboratory you'll need

NATURAL evaporation is a mighty safe index of motor fuel quality. True, it doesn't go all the way into motor fuel chemistry as a laboratory expert would do, but it gives you a conclusive gauge of vaporizing and explosive qualities. And that's what you and your motor are most concerned about.

Put a spoonful of True gasoline in one saucer and an equal quantity of any common fuel in the other. In a brief time the True gasoline is gone without any mark or smudge to tell where it was. It passes off into its natural gaseous state completely and without an effort, and its smell is the clean old-fashioned tingle of real gasoline—dry, pungent, unmistakable. That's

Go back to the other. It's not half gone. Helped by shaking and blowing, it will reluctantly dwindle away, reeking of kerosene odor and leaving a tell-tale greasy ring of stained residue that will not evaporate further.

Expect nothing different in your carburetor and in your explosion chamber. Fuels made by forced processes from materials too poor for straight-run refining will neither vaporize satisfactorily nor explode fully. They must be kept at a constantly over-rich mixture that uses up the fuel too fast for economy. They deposit their over-load of kerosenish residue and free carbon where it must do lasting harm to your motor.

Special to the Post-Crescent
Madison—Playing together smoothly and putting up a whole of a defense, a team of fast moving Appleton high cagers went into the semi-finals of the state prep basketball tournament here Thursday afternoon with a well earned victory over Manitowoc, 32 to 14. Having come through the first two rounds of the big meet unscathed, the lads from the north met Fond du Lac Friday afternoon in a battle for the right to go into the finals Saturday night. The Appleton quintet is favored by critics here to be the opponent of the winner of the Oregon-Superior classic in the final clash for the state title, and from all indications Superior will be the other finalist.

TEAMWORK COUNTS

Appleton, in defeating Manitowoc, showed organization and team play not equaled by any of the 16 aggregations playing in the tournament. With Koll and Hornbeck shooting excellently, and Courtney playing an excellent center game, the Orange had an easy time in disposing of its opponent. For the first few minutes, the contest was close, with two baskets by Koll giving Appleton a two point margin over Manitowoc's little scrappers, by talked first on a field goal by Charley Logan. Then it was that Hornbeck stepped out with two shots from the four and one from the line pushing the advantage to 9 to 4 at the end of the first quarter, and with the assistance of two field goals by Fraser and a free throw by Courtney, to 17 to 8 at the end of the half. Manitowoc counted only two field goals in the second half, both by Brennan, while Koll, Hornbeck, Hiebel and Scheible increased the Appleton total to 32. Hornbeck went out on four personals near the end of the tilt.

HARD BATTLES

Better basketball was shown and the tilts were more hotly contested than Thursday. Superior and Appleton stand out as favorites for the state high school basketball trophy by virtue of the victories and all around playing, with Oregon and Fond du Lac slightly behind.

The feature was the extra period contest between Oregon and Jatteville, in which the former won 2 to 20. Madden, the Oregon sharpshooter, scored eighteen points and played a remarkable floor game. Jatteville failed to score during the first quarter and at the half was trailing, 19 to 2.

In an interesting game, Fond du Lac nosed out River Falls, 18 to 13. Close guarding and long shore charging characterized the playing of both quintets. Fond du Lac muffed several free throws, but Moser, caging six field goals for his team, offset the missed opportunities.

Superior with some pretty combination plays near the end of the game, which baffled the L. Crookston scrappers, worked the ball within scoring distance and successfully landed a couple of tries which turned the tide and saved them from what looked like a possible defeat. The final score was 28 to 25 in favor of Superior.

TIA JUANA MAGNATE WILL DICKER WITH JACK KEARNS

San Diego, Calif.—James, W. Cof. Croth, president of the Tia Juana Jockey club, said Thursday night he expected to hold a conference with Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, some time Sunday in regard to the staking of a bout between the champion and Harry Wells in Tia Juana.

Until that time, however, he said 20 announcements could be made further than his statement Thursday morning that Dempsey and Wells are as good as matched for a title fight at Tia Juana.

Training Camps—The blowing up of Emil Levison in the ninth inning Thursday was responsible for Cleveland's first taste of defeat this season. The six-foot, right handed rookie, who starred in the Mississippi Valley league last year as a member of the Cedar Rapids club, had the game tucked away until the last inning when he "lost his stuff." The Brooklyn Dodgers hit him with telling effect and six scores crossed the plate before the side was retired.

The Indians will break camp Monday. Bill Pierson, recently reinstated, gave a great exhibition of pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics Thursday against Troy Normal school. He shared the mound with big "Ed" Rommel and between them they allowed only five hits.

Errors by Captain Eddie Collins and Catcher Cliff Crouse, a wild pitch by Roy Moore and a base hit gave the Philadelphia Nationals a win over the White Sox, the second exhibition victory the Phillies have registered in three years.

The St. Louis Browns are experiencing hard luck at their training camp. The latest casualty is Herschel Ben-ner, second infielder, who turned his ankle sliding in to first base.

SICKNESS DOGS CLUBS

Fred Schiebeler is suffering from blood poisoning and Carl Weiland is out with influenza. Joe Harris, regular first baseman of the Red Sox, and suffering with a lame shoulder, and young Phil Toddy, who played with Sam Antonio, Tex., last season, is giving such a great exhibition around the initial sack that he is making Manager Lee Fohl think seriously. Toddy played the outfield last season and hit a .333 clip. The St. Louis boy is fast and a sure fielder. The Washington Senators also broke into the misfortune column. They suffered their second defeat of the season at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals, and at the same time were deprived of the services of Benny Tate, rookie catcher, who was spiked in the forehead and sent to a hospital.

"Bullet" Joe Bush, doing mound duty, led a lineup of youngsters to a one-sided victory over the regulars in the Yankees training camp at New Orleans. The game was a free hitting affair.

The barnstorming tour of the Detroit Tigers and the Toronto International continues with a game at Charlotte, N. C., Friday. Thursday Toronto scored its first victory in five games against Cobb's crew.

"Hack" Miller, strong man of the National league was the big factor in the Chicago Cubs' victory over Oakland. The big slugger cracked out a brace of doubles and three singles in five trips to the plate and scored three times.

The Boston Braves beat the home talent of St. Petersburg in a closely played game. Larry Benton worked impressively for five innings and Jimmy McNamara pitched the last four innings without yielding a hit.

Badger Sport Director Denies Chicago Break

Madison—In a letter to A. A. Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago, Athletic Director T. E. Jones of Wisconsin recites the unwarranted publication of an article by a Milwaukee morning paper last Sunday that "Chicago and Wisconsin to them the last game of the season in Chicago is the alumni game, rather than the homecoming game in Madison, and they would be loth to see the present arrangement changed."

However, that is a matter for the athletic authorities of the two institutions to decide upon, and that they will readily agree on whatever arrangement is made as in the past is confidently expected.

The annual Wisconsin-Chicago football game, especially since it has been the last of the season has become the recognized classic of the middle west, just as the Harvard-Yale game is the football classic of the east, and neither Wisconsin nor Chicago would entertain any thought which would even tend to disrupt the friendly relations of all these years.

Wisconsin has played the final football game of the season in Chicago for the last five years and will do so again this fall. To many Wisconsin alumni this has become more than a football game, it is an institution. To them the last game of the season in Chicago is the alumni game, rather than the homecoming game in Madison, and they would be loth to see the present arrangement changed.

However, that is a matter for the athletic authorities of the two institutions to decide upon, and that they will readily agree on whatever arrangement is made as in the past is confidently expected.

KAUKAUNA SHEIK MEETS CONLEY ON GREEN BAY CARD

Zwick Will Attempt to Revenge Knockout Handed Him by Fighting Parson

Green Bay—Jack Zwick, Kaukauna "sheik," will attempt to avenge a knockout defeat handed him by Roy Conley fighting parson here several months ago when he meets the latter in the win-up event of a four bout card here Friday night. Zwick was knocked out by Conley in two rounds in their first bout, but Jack has tried himself into great shape for the return quarrel and is confident he will reverse the decision. Benny Vogt, Milwaukee featherweight, will meet Battling Herb of Oshkosh in the eight round semi-windup. Marine Koralski battles Eddie Stack of De Pere in a six rounder, and Young Kublak and Battling Wolters will perform in the four round opener.

Big Benn, now known as Ben Sullivan will celebrate his nineteenth birthday on Friday. Benjamin or rather, Mr. Sullivan, will celebrate his natal day by carrying his arm around in a cramp position. The big youngster, according to his manager, Vinc Moha, disclosed his mangled early in his bout with Stanley Frye at Sheboygan Tuesday night. As a result he could not do himself justice, and went the last four rounds on his nerve alone.

Connie Mack Comments On Sisler's Case

Montgomery—If George Sisler's eyes aren't completely cured he should not play," commented Connie Mack, discussing the report that the youthful manager of the Browns would probably attempt to start the season at first.

"Sisler, in perfect condition, would continue to be one of the marvels of baseball notwithstanding his year's layoff, but I fear he would be only an average ball player without the full use of his eyes.

The Thursday match had been postponed from earlier in the season, and had the Fords won all three games, they would have shunted the Buicks to second place and taken their stand in the attic.

THE Nut Cracker

BALE RUTH announces that he intends to cut the scientific stuff in his batting. Interesting, since no one ever accused Babel of straining the gray matter.

Pitch high and inside to stop Ruth, says Speaker. Low and outside, says John McGraw. Intelligent pitching will stop him, opines George Sisler. Just pitch, but be sure to duck, says One Punch O'Goofy, the traveling expert.

Base running due for a revival, is the word from all southern training camps. Base running is to be the deciding factor, say the managers. Which brings us back to the old baseball truth, you can't steal first base.

The Irish who celebrated on St. Patrick's Day because of Jack Delaney's victory over Paul Berlenbach are due for a rude awakening. Delaney's real name is Chappelaene.

Firpo says he intends to retire from the ring. It might be added, not until the U. S. mint quits turning out real dollars. Firpo has a tighter grip than Harry Lauder.

Farmer Lodge, who went to South America to assume a horizontal position in his bout with Firpo, is back in the states. He says, "I'm not low and I'm not kicking, but I've learned it's a good idea for American fighters to do their fighting in America." It also might be a good idea for Farmer to stick to farming.

Pitcher Luque has finally reported to the Cincinnati team at Orlando, Fla. Cincinnati headline says team is now ready to start the season. That may cause Eddie Roush to ask for more salary.

News item says Babe Ruth lost $1,000 bill at New Orleans the other day while on the way to the bank to send Mrs. Ruth four times that much. The same day Black Gold won the Louisiana Derby and Babe didn't pick him. Attention of Mrs. Ruth.

Pure "hokum," says Jack Dempsey with reference to Firpo's retirement. Being in the same business and having retired himself, Jack is certainly competent to pass an opinion.

LIGHTHEAVY CHAMPION LACKS PUNCHING POWER

While Gene Tunney, light heavyweight champion of America, continues to show gradual improvement as an all-round worker, it is evident he will never be a knock-out. Tunney had a chance to show if he could hit in a recent bout with the veteran Marty Burke, but was unable to come through.

HUGGINS STILL IN MARKET FOR HARD HITTING FIELDER

Yankee Manager Seeks Additional Outfielder to Act As Pinch Hitter

New Orleans—Notwithstanding that the Yankees already have seven outfielders on their roster, Miller Huggins threatens to add another to the list before the spring training season closes.

Huggins wants another right-handed outfielder to be used for pinch hitting and other purposes and he intimates that a seasoned performer answering to this description will join the club shortly.

Hinkey Haines, the Penn State football star, who joined the club as a right-handed outfielder, is not developing as fast as he hoped. Haines seems to have everything but hitting ability. Some of the Yankees tell you he is a better defensive outfielder than Speaker.

Huggins has been experimenting with him as a turn-over hitter, trying to teach him how to bat right or left handed as the occasion warrants. Huggins was a gifted turn-over hitter in his day and hopes to get results with the reformed collegian.

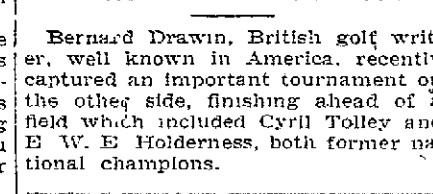

BERLENBACH TRAINS IN STIRLING CAMP

By Associated Press
New York—Paul Berlenbach, New York middleweight who meets Harry Krohn in a ten-round semi-final to the McTigue-Stirling match in Newark on Monday night, joins the Stirling camp Friday. He will put the finishing touches on his training in company with the Georgia schoolboy challenger of Mike McTigue, world's lightweight champion.

Berlenbach will give the youthful southerner a hard workout Friday, his final before he steps into the ring against the titleholder. McTigue has been conditioning easily at Madison Square Garden. Both principals are in good condition.

The first half ended with the Specials on the long end of a 9 to 0 score, and the 4.15 team did not score until the third quarter. In the second half, however, the 4.15 men showed signs of life and managed to make seven points while the Specials were doubling their mark.

$150,000 PAID TO BUILDERS OF TWO BRIDGES IN CITY

Slightly More Than $66,000 Has Been Paid on Cherry-st Project

Appleton's bridge program has thus far cost the city nearly $150,000. The lowest bridge is practically paid for and the Cherry-st bridge construction has progressed as far as the steel work.

According to the records of E. L. Williams, city clerk, the sum of $87,887.75 has been paid to the contractors which built the lowest bridge. This settles their account with the exception of $371 which is temporarily withheld by the city pending the repair of a few minor and unimportant defects.

The major part of Appleton's bridge program is, of course, the Cherry-st viaduct on which the steel construction is now starting. This bridge has cost the city a total of $66,087.50.

Neither of these figures, however, include the cost of engineering and designing and such minor items as printing, etc. The engineers, Harrington, Howard & Ash, who designed the bridge and now are furnishing an engineer to supervise the construction, paid on a percentage, based up on the amount paid the contractors. They have received a little more than $10,000 to date. Printing and miscellaneous costs amount to about $200.

C. R. Meyer & Sons company of Oshkosh built the lowest bridge and the Wausau Iron works are erecting the Cherry-st viaduct.

"WITHHOLDING OF WILSON PAPERS STIRS CAPITAL

Congressmen Question Right of Widow to Refuse Publication Permit

Letter is said to be favorable to Mr. Wilson because it is said he would have required the resignation of Mr. Lane had the latter insisted upon his viewpoint.

Letters of this kind could be obtained by any senate committee simply by subpoenaing those who have them in their possession and all the correspondence of a president can be printed by the simple resolution of congress calling upon the outgoing presidents to deposit their official letters with the succeeding administration.

The letter which Mrs. Wilson asked the Saturday Evening Post to suppress was not official but personal and political. It related to Mr. Wilson's advocacy of Joseph P. Tumulty for United States senator from New Jersey. It was written not only after Mr. Wilson left the White House, but after the break occurred between the late president and his former private secretary. The suppression of the letter is said to be within the legal right of any of the heirs of the late president but the substance of the letter has been made public by James Kervin, editor of Trenton Times who discussed the subject with Mr. Wilson after the latter had himself declined to be a candidate for the senate.

The New Jersey political leaders urged Mr. Wilson to run for the senate feeling that ample precedent for it was furnished by John Quincy Adams who served a long time in the senate after he left the White House. The fact that Mr. Wilson urged Mr. Tumulty is considered significant of his esteem for the man from whom he had become estranged.

GERMANY SEEKS TURKISH MARKET

Teutons Show Inborn Thoroughness In Drive For Expansion Of Trade

By Associated Press. Constantinople—Germany is making a drive for the Turkish market with German thoroughness. With an all sea route from her ports and unhampered by the restrictions of the overland shipping through European states, she is getting ready to regain her prewar prestige here.

German merchants, commercial travelers, artisans and engineers are already here in considerable numbers. German and Austrian goods are beginning to show in the shops, and for the first time since the world war, German is heard on the streets. During the occupation no national of an enemy state was permitted in Turkey without an international visa, something almost impossible to obtain. Now Turkey is encouraging the Teutons to come, and it is reported that a great influx of them is expected this winter. They will largely take the place of the exiled Greeks and Armenians in retail business.

The German consul here has said that Germany considered it her duty to aid Turkey in her new era of development and reconstruction, and that he was in receipt of hundreds of letters from his country men who were seeking opportunities here.

Weather Below Zero Here Just Year Ago Today

Appleton residents Thursday had their first treat of real spring weather and few of them could resist the cheerful sunshine. Not only were walkers of the business section, filled with pedestrians who either were out strolling or attending to their Easter shopping, but scores of automobiles lined the street curbs.

Although one of the thermometers registered as high as 47 degrees quite late in the afternoon, a few residents were somewhat dubious of the enduring qualities of this mild weather. Some of them chafed under the memory that just a year ago Friday it was five below zero and on March 31 the thermometer registered zero weather.

FARMERS WISE IN SPENDING MONEY

By Associated Press. Washington—Economists of the Department of Agriculture have completed a study of the average annual expenditures of a farmer's family in Livingston County, N. Y., and find the amount to be $7,012. The purpose of the study will be extended to various parts of the country to determine whether farmers get "adequate returns" in comfort, health and enjoyment from their expenditures as compared with the industrial family.

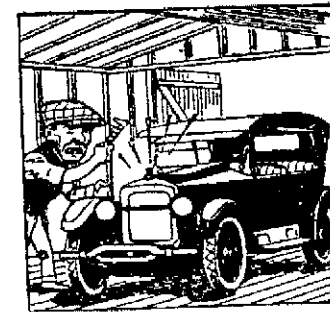

Livingston county was selected as a general farming community of average prosperity. The most striking feature of the study, the department said, was the almost complete similarity found in items of expenditures of the two classes.

About one-third of the farm expenditures was figured on items not involving direct purchase—food produced on the farm and unpaid labor. Of the total the expenditure for food was 34.5 percent, clothing 13 percent, education, recreation and church and social activities, 16 percent.

ON THE SCREEN

EARLE WILLIAMS AS ADVENTURER

"Fortune's Mask," which will be shown at the New Bijou Theatre today and Saturday, starring Earle Williams is one of the most colorful of pictures. In an early scene Dick Malone—played by Earle Williams—looking strangely unfamiliar in a blond wig—rides into the Central American city of Corralito with his horses, hugging the sides of a diminutive burro. The debonair adventurer proceeds to stir things up in grand style, treats the entire city to drinks, loses money freely at cards, beats up a few and makes himself generally popular. In fact the only inhabitants who do not fall for Dick are the commandants of police and the disappointed lovers of Pasa Ortiz, who carried off her first love by Dick's winning methods of courtship, elopes with him. In the end it is discovered that there is a method in Dick's madness, the blond wig comes off, and he turns out to be the most unexpected person in the world.

HISTORICAL ROMANCE IN "THE OREGON TRAIL"

Entertainment is the chief thing that draws people to theater. But a picture or play which is instructive at the same time, weaving its romance through the threads of a great story of fact, has an influence far-reaching and incalculable in its benefits. "The Oregon Trail" is a universal serial of history and romance which brings Art Acord to the screen of the New Bijou Saturday matinee in a picture as valuable as it is entertaining. Research work in the files of history to disclose the secret facts of the great exploration of the Oregon trail, on which this story is based, occupied many months.

"GALLOPING FISH" IS LAUGH-ABLE THRILLER

A caricature makeup is a hindrance and not an aid to "putting over" real comedy on the screen, declares Louise Fazenda, who plays a leading role in "The Galloping Fish." Thomas H. Ince's comedy special just released by First National which is running at the Elite theater.

Louise Fazenda, wearing topsy-turvy, too-brief, gingham dresses and ridiculous hats played her way into the hearts of screen audiences many years ago. But that sort of laugh provoking is not art, declares the comedienne seriously. In the new Ince production she has her first opportunity to be funny and beautiful at the same time. Fazenda "fans" declare that as the diving Venus she is funnier than in any previous characterization. And certainly she proves that she has a face that can do anything the screen could demand. Her beauty might have

NAME THE MAN
A foretold story in Sir Hall Caine, and an all-star cast which includes Conrad Nagel, Mae Busch, Hubert Bosworth, Patsy Ruth Miller and Creighton Hale combine to make noteworthy Victor Sessions' first American production "Name the Man" which comes Monday to the Elite theater.

"Name the Man" is from the celebrated English novelist's recent best seller "The Master Man." It tells the thrilling story of a young judge whose first act of office is to pass judgment on a girl he himself wronged.

The courtroom scene, which is one of the intensely dramatic incidents in the story, calls for some of the greatest emotional and dramatic acting which has ever reached the American

Mae Busch plays the part of the wronged girl—her second leading part in Hall Caine stories, with Conrad Nagel playing the part of the judge.

Hough's Book Grips Reader In Mystery

Romance of precious metals is the theme of Emerson Hough's latest novel, "Mother of Gold." With his usual keen interest in American traditions, the author has told the story based on an old legend of the Spanish conquest. Writing of the West as usual, in this story he depicts the rather prosaic United States for Mexico, a land where no adventure is improbable nor impossible.

The tale begins with the gathering of the four men about to set out in search of the hidden valley where there is reported to be a vein of pure gold, according to the legend the great mother lode of free gold had given up her treasure every time there has been a crisis in the monetary situation of the world. Feeling that the years following the Great War have been such as to demand a new currency, John Palmer formulates his plan to give this pure gold to the world. After several years' residence in Mexico, he has stumbled onto evidence which leads him to believe that he knows the whereabouts of the mine which furnished the Aztecs with the gold that dazzled all Europe at the time of the Mexican conquest. The four Americans, John Palmer and three young mining engineers,

Alison, Silsby, and Hallock descend into Mexico with their small pack-train in constant danger from Villa's soldiers and wandering ruffians. Their numbers dwindle as they near the end of their quest, but the remaining men go on, more and more impressed by the strange force which seems to sway every person coming into contact with this mysterious "Mother of Oro." The love story is brought in through Harry Allison's affection for Mary Westlake, American girl whose crystal gazing has shown her the object of her lover's search.

The story is a bit tedious in the first few pages, in which the reader learns the details necessary to proper understanding of the story but interest increases rapidly and is intensified at the final climax. A providential earthquake saves the author from any difficulty which might arise in reconciling the tale with actual fact, but in general the story is perfectly plausible. Throughout the whole book one feels the grip of the mysterious force which guides all the characters, influencing the lives of

100 AUTOS PER DAY MADE BY CHRYSLER

Buying Demand Far Exceeds Production Says J. E. Fields,
Sales Manager

Detroit—One of the most amazing pieces of information that has come from any Detroit automobile factory in a number of weeks was made public yesterday with the announcement by J. E. Fields, general sales manager of the Chrysler Motor Corporation, that production on the Chrysler Six had reached more than one hundred cars a day.

The figures are startling because the Chrysler was not introduced to the public until early in January with the opening of the 1924 Auto Mobile Show. Production then went steadily ahead and was well under way by the latter part of that month. Since then the Chrysler plant has each week met the schedules for Chrysler manufacture, which were laid out more than six months ago. Manufacturers of motor cars or automotive equipment, realize the full meaning of this statement, knowing that the Chrysler plant has been specially equipped throughout to develop unusual quality of workmanship rather than quantity of product. For that reason the speed with which the present rate of production has been reached, becomes all the more remarkable.

Sales reports from all sections of the country and from virtually every automobile show which has been held in the United States indicate that even the present high schedules attained in building the Chrysler Six will not satisfy buying demand; and Mr. Fields believes he is making a conservative statement when he says that the car is certain to be over-sold throughout 1924. He adds emphatically to this by saying that Chrysler will make no attempt to gain a higher production rate than the schedules call for, believing that it is better to safeguard quality than to jeopardize the already high position which the Chrysler Six has won in motor car markets in order to satisfy the buying demand.

NEW CADILLAC 83 IS GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Comments from engineers, distributors and owners indicate that of all the pioneering achievements of the Cadillac Motor Car company during the past 21 years, none has contributed more to riding comfort than the creation of the new "83" inherently balanced and harmonized engine, according to Frank Johnson, assistant chief engineer of the company, who assisted in designing the first one-cylinder Cadillac engine and who has had an important part in the designing of nearly every new Cadillac since that time.

"During the month of March," states Mr. Johnson, "we are celebrating the sixteenth anniversary of the award to Cadillac of the Dewar trophy by the Royal Automobile Club of England for the most significant development during the preceding year. Since that time our company has also pioneered in such fundamental ways as discarding magneto and adopting electrical ignition; introducing a complete electrical system for cranking, lighting and ignition; developing and using thermostatic control of the circulating cooling medium and of carburetion; and introducing V-type, high-speed automobile engines in the United States.

"Yet, from the standpoint of performance," Mr. Johnson continues, "the creation of our new engine announced in the fall of 1923 is now generally accepted as our most fundamental achievement since introducing into this country the V-type, eight-cylinder engine in 1915.

"The history of the development of that new principle would in itself make an interesting story, as it covers a long period of close application and many experiments by both our own and General Motors Research Laboratory engineers.

"The external appearance of this new engine is quite similar to that of previous Cadillac types. For that reason many have not realized until they have ridden in one of the new cars that we have an entirely new power unit.

"From the outset we have always held to the inherent advantages of the V-type engine. It has a short, rigid crankshaft. It is compact. It leaves more room on the chassis for the body.

"For many years past Cadillac has been able to produce a smoothly-performing engine by the most careful machining of all moving parts to the closest limits of precision, and by carefully balancing the rotating and the reciprocating parts.

"Over a period of ten years we had developed a clientele educated to expecting unusually smooth performance. Many of them had been driving Cadillac cars since we first introduced the V-type engine back in 1915. To give this discriminating clientele absolutely the best in performance we started out several years ago with renewed energy in solve a problem in engine balance which had long been considered commercially unsolvable.

"We realized that the successful application of this principle was the greatest accomplishment in V-type engine design since its introduction; and our slogan, "expect great things," really been the keynote of a certain portion of our engineering endeavor over a period of years.

"In addition to this great forward step in smoothness of operation, refinements of the engine since 1915 have added greatly to its power. The engine is exactly the same size as in 1915. No fundamental dimension has been changed. The bore and stroke are the same. Yet we have increased the engine power 20 per cent, besides getting a performance which has provided a revelation to those who have ridden in the new car."

ing service at the lowest cost for closed car comfort.

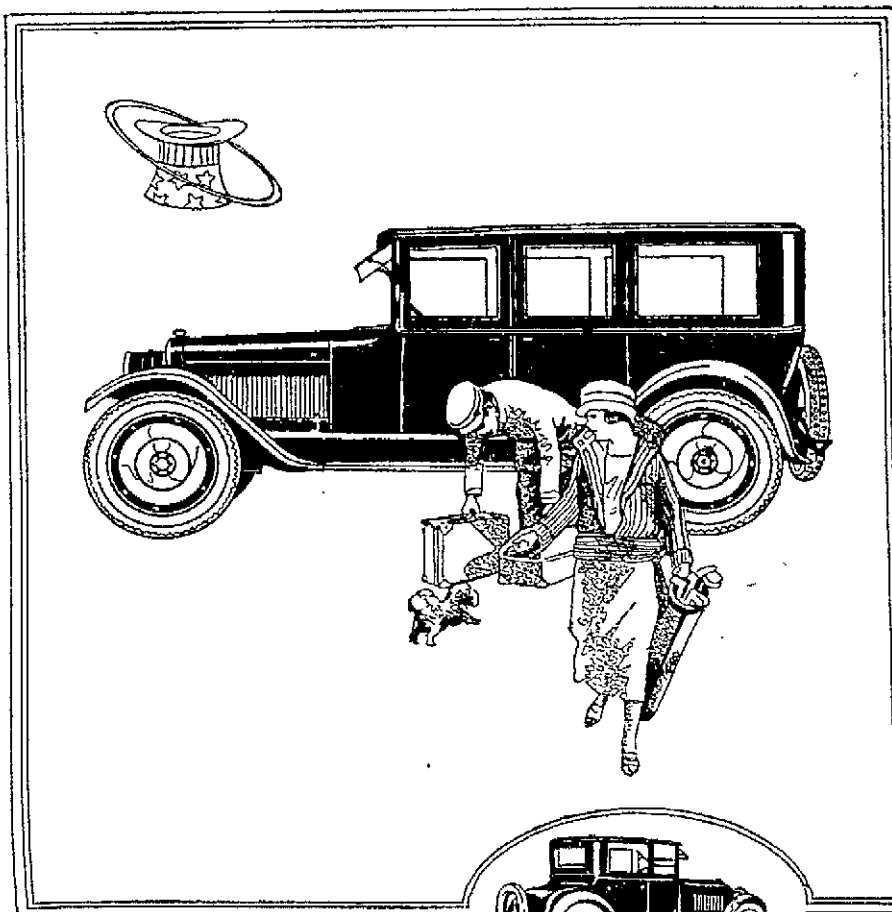

For the family—children enjoy a greater freedom in the car because of the practical character of the appointments. In and out it is built to withstand hard usage. There is no sensibility, such as is marred by the children's finger prints, no delicate cloth upholstery for them to spot and ruin in their play.

For the salesman—it has low operating cost for the salesman who travels from town to town or calling on widely separated customers in the city. The Type B sedan offers complete comfort and protection from the weather, and at the same time permits the carrying of a large supply of samples.

For the ladies—the Type B sedan is ideally constructed for shopping or social purposes. Women will find it not only an easy car to handle and park in the city traffic but its distinctive appearance will make a decided cloth upholstery for them to spot and ruin in their play.

For the farmer—the enamel finish, leather upholstery and removable fixtures are a boon to the farmer. They enable him to make whatever use of the car he wishes. He can haul milk fruit and vegetables during the day and still have a comfortable, refined sedan for social use in the evening and on Sunday.

For the sportsman—hunters, fishermen, campers and auto tourists will be amazed at the available room in the rear compartment for packing necessary camping and outfitting equipment. Instead of strapping the equipment in to the running board or rear it can be easily and neatly in the car. It is possible to pack all needed equipment for an extended tour—blankets, cooking equipment, leading rolls, clothes, and extras.

FOREIGN VISITORS INSPECT REO PLANT

Forty-three states in the Union and thirteen foreign countries were represented on the list of people who visited the shops of the Reo Motor Car Company in Lansing during the past year. Residents of five continents were conducted through the various departments in which the Reo parts are made and along the assembly lines where the various units are co-ordinated in the passenger cars and Speed Wagons which make up the Reo line.

Many of the visitors were Reo owners or prospective owners who were interested in the construction of the car of their choice. Others were students of industrial conditions, financial ratings, and relations between employers and employees, who recognized in the Reo Motor Car Company an institution of unusual policies and the highest ideals.

It is noteworthy that the visitors came to the Reo in numbers evenly distributed throughout the year, for while June was the largest month in the point of the number of people guided through the shops, March was the second largest. In January nearly as many visited the plant as in May and September.

Among the foreign countries from which the visitors came were China, Japan, Mexico, India, Switzerland, England, Australia, Norway, Sweden, the Philippines, South and Central America. April led all other months in the total number of foreign visitors entertained and in the number of countries represented.

OWNERS GIVE STAR BIG ENDORSEMENT

It is hard to conceive a greater, more enthusiastic or more unqualified endorsement of a new-priced automobile than that which has been given the Star Car. From every section of the country—from men and women owners who have driven their Stars under all kinds of conditions—whose mileage varies from 2,000 to 20,000 and more miles—have come these enthusiastic endorsements of this remarkable car. Those living in this remarkable car. Those living in this remarkable car. Those living in this remarkable car.

Mr. A. G. Conway of Brooklyn, N. Y., expresses his absolute satisfaction with his Star much the same as thousands of other Star Car owners have. He says, "I have been very well satisfied with my Star Sedan and when the present mileage is doubled, I expect to buy a second one." The same intention is expressed a little differently by Mr. Paul W. Ursch of Redford, Mich., who puts it this way, "Should I have occasion to buy a new car, it would be next to impossible to sell me anything else but a Star car, as it completely answers all my requirements for flexibility, comfort and speed. I have driven it 14,000 miles and got 27 miles per gallon in city driving and as high as 35 in the country. In heavy traffic it throttles down to four miles without jumping gears and out in the country, travels 50 miles an hour with no effort and very little vibration."

After driving his Star Touring Car over 4,000 miles, Mr. E. R. Prayor, of Winnipeg, Canada, voices his entire satisfaction in these words: "We have done a great deal of driving over country roads, taking trips of 400

NEW OAKLAND CARS NEED LITTLE SERVICE

With production for the past six months breaking all previous records, there has not been a nearly equal increase in the service demands for the new "True Blue" Oakland automobile, according to R. A. Armstrong, service manager of the Oakland Motor Car Company. "Service requirements for the 1924 Oakland have been less than for any other new model car in my experience," said Mr. Armstrong.

"During the next month will be the critical time for car servicing," Mr. Armstrong said, "as this period marks the transition from winter to summer driving. Owners of any make of car can save themselves money and trouble by giving their car a thorough overhauling at this time.

"The radiator should be drained and the circulating system flushed out to remove all the alcohol and sediment. At this time it is advisable to inspect the radiator hose connections as alcohol solution used during the winter deteriorates the rubber. If leaks are found new connections should be installed.

"The crank case should be thoroughly drained and flushed with a light quality motor oil. New lubricating oil should be used to refill the oil system, and if the car requires a lighter oil for summer driving, this should be used. Inspect the oil in the transmission and rear axle, adding more if necessary. Fill all slope cups or use drops "gun" on all oil connections, such as shackle bolts, universal joints, etc.

"Test engine to see if it overheats. Should it do so, it may be caused by improper timing, carburetor adjustments, water circulation, water pump or fan belt not functioning properly. If a rich gasoline mixture has been used during the winter be sure that the carburetor adjustment is changed. "Check and adjust tappets; clean spark plugs; if an excess of carbon is found have cylinders cleaned and valves ground. Inspect wiring and see that all connections are clean and make good contact. See that battery is filled with distilled water to the proper level.

"Tighten all loose nuts, particularly body and shackle bolt nuts. See that brakes are properly adjusted and retined if needed; focus head lamps and have tires inflated evenly and to the specified pressure.

"The work as outlined will be amply repaid in a freedom from road breakdowns and expensive repairs during the spring and summer. This plan will help the dealers check their repair costs, and also enable many of them to reduce these costs by using the most efficient methods.

With seven passengers and maintaining between forty and forty-five miles an hour. For a light car, its performance has been remarkable. The Star has ample power, it is economical on gas, easy to ride in, easy to stop and handle in every way. It is a joy to drive. We have at times driven fifty miles an hour on country roads. We are exceptionally well pleased with our Star in every way. Up to date we have had no repairs whatever."

"We have driven our Star Touring Car a distance of 15,000 miles through Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas and up to this time, I have not found it necessary to have any mechanical repair made to the car whatever." It is the way Mr. J. R. Smith of Goose Creek, Texas, declares his approval of his car. In addition he says, "I do not know whether this is exceptional with Star cars or not, but I consider it a remarkable record of service from a car costing no more than the Star."

EMPLOYEES INVEST IN FORD RAILWAY

First payment of interest on Investment Certificates of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, the Ford railroad, has been computed on the basis of a twelve per cent annual return. Checks for interest payment covering the months of November and December, 1923, have been mailed to all employees of the road holding certificates. Payment hereafter to be made July 1 and January 1.

When the D. T. & I. employees savings plan was approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, no guaranteed rate of interest could be specified. This was to depend upon the railroad's financial condition and its earnings.

Accordingly, it was decided that the company's income has been sufficient since the inauguration of the plan last November to justify a computation of twelve per cent annually.

The first payment of this high rate of interest has had the effect of producing much enthusiasm for the plan among the road's employees and there has been considerable of an increase in the number of certificate purchasers.

Within a month after the plan was announced, 347 employees had deposited $6,235.80. By February 1 of this year certificate holders increased in number to 555 with a total of $55,406.02 invested.

The D. T. & I. is issuing $1,000,000 worth of the certificates and men on the company pay roll may invest up to one-third of their salary.

A desirable feature not found in the average investment is that if for any reason it becomes necessary for an employee to withdraw a portion or all of his investment account he can do so without delay or inconvenience.

OLDS MOTOR WORKS ENJOYS GOOD YEAR

In the year ended December 31, 1923, the Olds Motor Works sold approximately 35,000 motor vehicles. This total aggregates about $38,000,000 in retail value.

While a large number of cars were driven overland, from the factory and many were shipped by boat, 7,792 eight cars were required to move the finished product from the factory to points of destination.

Add together the number of carloads of raw materials and semi-finished products bought to the plant, and the carloads of finished products shipped, gives a total of 11,171 freight cars equivalent to more than 235 trainloads of 50 cars each.

The freight bills which the Olds Motor Works paid the railroads during 1923 for incoming materials alone amounted to approximately $428,000.00.

During the first five months the new six cylinder car has been on the market the sales have been 300 per cent greater than they were during the same months a year previous, and slightly more than 600 per cent greater than those of the same period for 1921-22.

Late last year A. B. C. Hardy, president and general manager of the Olds Motor Works, announced a scheduled production of at least 100,000 Oldsmobiles during 1924. According to the number manufactured and sold during the first quarter, this estimate will be considerably exceeded.

NEW MOON SIX $895 BEST VALUE IN YRS.

Prices Lowest in Moon History;
Hydraulic Brakes
Optional

The New Moon Six, recently announced by the Moon Motor Car company as an addition line to their present series of cars to sell under $1,000.00, is on exhibit at the automobile show—and the price tag reads $895.00.

This is the lowest price at which a Moon car has ever been sold, however, after giving the New Moon even a casual once-over, it must be admitted that it is an exceptionally good value for the money and is one of the most promising offerings of 1924.

The same high standards of component units, workmanship and finish which have made Moon cars "favorably known the world over" have been rigidly maintained in this new model. The New Moon six possesses the same pleasing body lines as the other Moon cars and is equipped with distinctive solid German silver radiator and with a special Moon Red Seal Continental motor and has Borg and Beck clutch, Delco starting, lighting and ignition system, Timken axles and bearings.

Warner transmission and other well known units that have established an enviable reputation for efficient, economical performance and long, satisfactory service.

FINE COACH WORK IN NEW BUICK COUPE

Driving in this roomy New Buick Coupe you will gain a new appreciation of the combination of fine coach work and a fine mechanism.

After you have remarked the smoothness of the automatically lubricated engine that is capable of speed that is rated at from sixty to seventy miles per hour, you will be impressed by the ease with which you can control each and every operation and adjustment. With its marked acceleration, its great reserve of speed and its surplus braking power, nothing more could be desired.

Inspecting the car from the outside, you will note a marked superiority in its long, sweeping lines, in the form and finish of its radiator, hood, fenders and graceful body.

Inside you will see such equipment as patent window lifts for all four windows, gasoline gauge and clock on the instrument panel and fine plush material in the upholstery. Around all the windows are walnut garnish moldings and a new type door stop re-

CHEVROLET DEALERS RECEIVE NEW FILM

C. E. Dawson, Acting General Sales Manager, and George Frank Lord, Advertising Manager, Chevrolet Motor Company, recently completed a tour of the Eastern portion of the country, in which they addressed about 3,000 dealers at meetings in Kansas City, St. Louis, Dallas, Atlanta, Memphis, Charlotte and Cincinnati. The new Chevrolet film "Man's Conquest of Time" was enthusiastically received at all the meetings.

Dawson reports dealers are optimistic and predicts the largest Spring business ever known, as indicated by an unprecedented volume of orders already on file for Spring deliveries.

Messrs. Dawson, R. E. Grant, Assistant to the President, and A. R. Kroh, Manager Retail Development Division, are now touring the Western half of the country addressing dealer meetings at Denver, Los Angeles, Oakland, Portland and Minneapolis.

These details are typical of the care that has been observed throughout this Buick Coupe. The Buick four-wheel brakes are another feature of great importance to the motorist.

BRITAIN IN GRIP OF BOOZE RING YET HAS RUM RUNNERS

Problem There Arises Because Of Heavy Taxation On Liquors

London—A dark night. Fog along the coast. A traveler comes to a deserted cove with his load of innocent fish—and not so innocent booze.

No, this is not about the United States Rum Row where ships are smuggling British booze to American bootleggers. This particular story deals with British boats which smuggle French booze into merry England.

For just as anti-booze rules the roost in the United States, so booze is all powerful in Great Britain.

It is powerful in Parliament, powerful in the party machines, powerful in society and powerful in the press. It even has its friends in the churches. It has no strenuous opposition in the colleges and universities. It permeates all branches of British life. That is why the makers of beer, whiskey and gin in Britain don't worry much.

PEERAGE NOW "BEERAGE"

The last Parliament had in the House of Lords 12 members who were direct in the big whiskey or brewer concerns. A number of these had their entire fortune out of booze. In the House of Commons there were 16 brewers and distillers interested in 27 companies whose capital stock was a quarter of a billion dollars.

None of the big newspapers of Great Britain is owned by the beer and whiskey lords, but the press, as a whole, is favorable to their business for two reasons: the owners think the public sentiment favors the wets and the owners make huge sums out of booze advertisements. Makers of well known brands of whiskey, beer and gin take columns of space in British newspapers to boost their wares.

Not only that, but the big department stores of Great Britain have liquor departments on a scale of lavishness never known even in New York and Chicago. It is no unusual thing to see these department stores taking a quarter of a page in price to advertise their bargains in liquor. It is no unusual thing to see some ad wading lyrical in its phrase of 100-year-old brandy—"the very soul of the grape"—and only $50 a bottle!

With Great Britain the most highly taxed country in the world, the booze interests have another potential argument. They point out that owing to high taxes on their business, alcohol has yielded an increased revenue of about three quarters of a billion dollars per annum which could not be raised so easily and so expensively any place else.

And so just as bootlegging is a recognized "business" along our coast, so smuggling is a recognized "business" along the English channel. So much so that Parliament may be asked to provide money for a coast guard.

In the United States prohibition is the cause of bootlegging. In England the main cause of smuggling is taxes. FISHMEN GET RICH RUNNING RUM

With a government tax of over $2 per bottle, the smuggler can easily afford to take the risk and split what is saved on the tax. In other words, he can sell his booze to the dealer for $1 less than it would be cost him to buy from regular wholesalers. The business of booze smuggling in England is almost entirely in the hands of the fishermen of the southern and southwestern English coasts.

Farmers Are Told at Institute of the Value of Raising
Alfalfa Hay

Oneida — R. A. Amundson, agricultural agent of Outagamie-co, and Emil Jacobson of the town of Ashwaubenon, Brown-co, a man who is famous for the raising of seed corn and alfalfa, spoke at the farmers institute at Epworth hall Wednesday afternoon. About 200 were present, including pupils from district No. 2 and 4 schools and their teachers, Miss Katherine Bongie and Miss Florence Coppes.

Mr. Amundson spoke about the boys' and girl's pig club which is being formed in the county and five pupils from district No. 2 school and twenty from district 4 joined. He also spoke on the value of the alfalfa crop for dairy feeding and then introduced Mr. Jacobson.

The Brown-co farmer has made it his business to raise alfalfa for 15 years, he said in his talk. Some of the points he brought out were: That alfalfa requires 40 pounds of lime to the ton.

That the first cutting be kept for horses, the second for cattle and other animals and that the third be uncut

Women Sure To Purify With Vote

Study of Politics Eventually Will Lead to Assertive Voting, Say Leaders

Washington—American women are in national politics this year for the first time. Four years ago didn't count. They hadn't the vote long enough. So feminine influence hasn't purified politics yet. It will begin to, from now on. "It isn't that women, as a sex, are morally better than men," says Miss Mabel Vernon, executive secretary and organizer for the National Woman's Party, the most militantly distinctive, individually feminine of the women's political groups. "But women are studying politics and men never have. They won't vote blindly as leaders tell them to vote. They'll understand the issues they cast their ballots—for and against. That will make for cleaner politics I think."

ONLY THE START

"It can't be done all at once. But, having started, we shall learn fast. Women's first interest is in local politics. Its problems concern them directly, personally. From local questions we shall work up. "Yes, the time is coming when women will hold cabinet posts. There are women who could hold them now, any of them, at least as well"—and Miss Vernon smiled—"as some of the men who hold them."

TO THE TOP!

"And a woman president? Of course. How soon? Ah, I don't like these predictions. Things happen so unexpectedly. The nineteenth amendment was quite unexpected. So may a woman's presidential candidacy be."

Mrs. Harriot Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican, and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, agree with Miss Vernon that women are studying politics with an interest few men ever have shown. But they don't believe this will tend to keep them from Republican or Democratic alignment.

Indeed, Mrs. Blair believes women will be more loyal partisans than men, whose allegiance, she suspects, is affected sometimes by business or other personal considerations.

Household Suggestions

FRESH AIR
Except in the very hottest weather, all foods, cooked or raw, keep better in fresh air than in a refrigerator.

MAKES IT TOUGH
Do not use too much flour when making sponge cake, as this makes it tough.

PROTECT HAIR
When sweeping cover your head with a cap or kerchief, to protect your hair from dust.

USE NEEDLE
A knitting needle is better than a fork for testing potatoes or other vegetables to see if they have cooked sufficiently.

DELICIOUS SALAD
Cold cooked peas, carrots, beans, string beans and almost any cold vegetables may be combined with French dressing to make a delicious salad.

DRIED PEAS, BEANS
Dried peas and beans, pound for pound, are much richer in food values than fresh vegetables, but they require great care in cooking so that the tough skins may be made tender.

ONE CUPFUL
Sixteen tablespoons of any dry ingredient make one cupful.

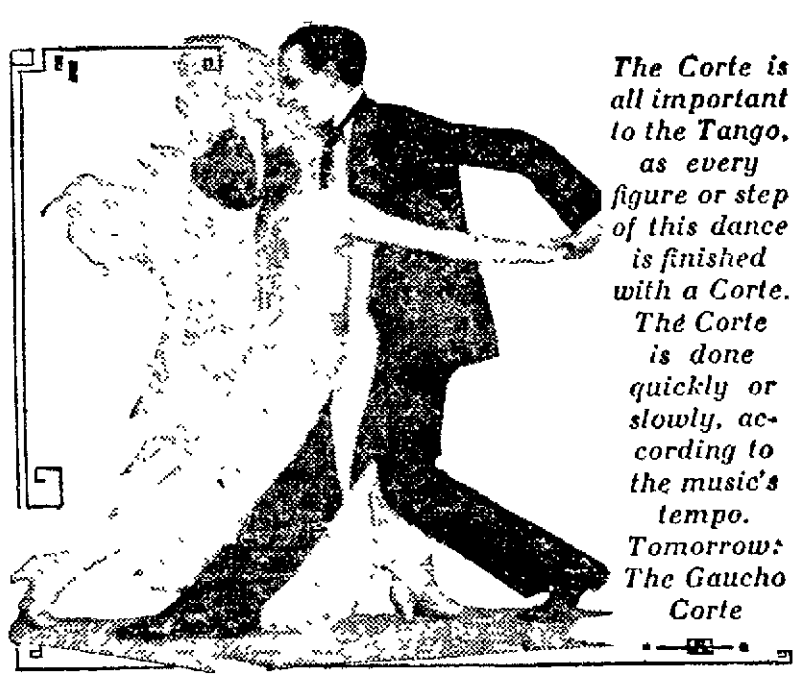

CHEAPER CUTS
Instead of always buying steaks and chops, which are the most expensive of meats, remember that the cheaper cuts may be used for meat pie, meat loaf, pot roast, hamburger or stew.

CLARIFY WITH POTATO
When frying fat has become dark from repeated using, clarify it with potato.

BAKED BANANAS
Baked bananas are a tasty dessert if served with lemon or orange marmalade. You prepare them by removing the skins, leaving the pulp in a baking dish sprinkled with granulated sugar and a little water, and bake in a hot oven until tender.

Deafness Is Girl's Spur To Success

Not Only Helps Others in Like Plight But Drives Taxicab for Living

By Associated Press
Dayton, O.—Deafness, rather than being a handicap has goaded Miss Mabel Lindner on to enviable achievements in this city. In her climb to success, she is helping others burdened with the same affliction. A few years ago Miss Lindner was ready to give up. She had lost her hearing after a serious attack of typhoid fever. At the time she was almost ready to lose confidence in her self. HELPS OTHERS But, at the critical moment, Miss Lindner bucked up. Within a few years she had conquered her failing and had begun helping others conquer theirs. No, as a social worker, she helps others through the League of Hard of Hearing, of which she is secretary. As taxi driver she helps herself in the human struggle for existence. Deafness, Miss Lindner finds, is an asset, not a hindrance. For, she says, "the eyes of the deaf see what their ears cannot hear." Those who cannot "listen," she contends, are sure to "stop" and "look."

FOR CHAUFFEURS

That is Miss Lindner's argument for the deaf taxicab driver or any deafened person regardless into what walk of life his steps are directed. "The deaf man or woman does not waste your time. He concentrates better than others. He is a keener observer. He is more efficient at routine. He is thorough and persistent and is a master of detail as well as being reliable and appreciative."

These are the selling points Miss Lindner uses as she goes from employer to employer in her efforts to place men and women who are hard of hearing or deaf entirely.

Get Ready For Garden Week

MRS. JOHN D. SHERMAN
Washington—Gardens of the country are called to rally around the onion bed and potato patch the week of April 20. The call for Garden Week is made by Mrs. John D. Sherman, chairman of the department of Applied Education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Sherman is an accomplished gardener herself. Six months she spends in her garden at Estes Park, Colo.

mine sweet pea, lily of the valley, of medium strength, trailing arbutus, violet, white rose, honeysuckle, tuberoses, heavy orange blossom, narcissus, lily and gardenia.

Perfumes may be divided into two classes—natural and synthetic. The natural ones are obtained either from the animal or vegetable kingdom. To the first belong musk, civet, castor and ambergris, castor comes from the beaver. Ambergris was a mystery for a long while, but it is the secretion from a sperm whale, and is found floating on the surface of the sea.

The chief value of these animal products is to impart greater permanence to the evanescent vegetable odor, musk, for example, is an essential ingredient of nearly all perfumes. The better a perfume, the farther it goes. Get as expensive a bottle as you can, in preference to cheap perfume, which tempts to prodigal use.

VEGETABLE CHOWDER
Hot chowders are particularly good for winter luncheons. Vegetables are quite as satisfactory as fish for these dishes.

Many children who will not drink milk will like it if served hot in vegetable chowder.

POTATO CHOWDER
Four cups milk, 3 cups diced potatoes, 1 cup diced carrots, 3 slices onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 table-spoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons minced parsley. Put potatoes and carrots in kettle

Little Care Helps Keep Beads Neat

If you have expensive beads of any sort you should have them examined by your jeweler frequently to make sure that the string is not weak. Most persons who wear pearls or other precious beads do take this caution. The possessor of moderate priced beads, however, can save herself a good deal of trouble if she examines the string frequently herself and takes the trouble to restring the beads if there is any sign of wearing. Often inexpensive beads are strung on very brittle thread, which wears through shortly. It is not difficult to restring such beads on some sort of substantial thread. Some persons prefer dental floss to anything else, while others use mercerized cotton, double or triple when the size of the bead permits. WAX ENDS OF STRING Don't use a needle. Have a piece of beeswax, instead, and wax the thread or threads well and keep them pointed and you will need no needle. In this way you can use a larger thread than would be possible if you had to allow for the needle as well. Often crystal beads are made more attractive if they are strung on colored thread. If you have real pearls or a very good imitation pearl they should be taken to a jeweler to be cleaned. It is not difficult to clean your own beads, and you need not hesitate if they are inexpensive. However, they should always be taken off the string before beginning the process. SIMPLE METHOD OF STRINGING If you restring beads that need no washing it is a simple enough matter to transfer them from the old string to the new. Have ready the string considerably longer than you will need in the end. Cut the string at the place where the old string has been knotted or at one clasp and, removing two or three beads, lay the end of the old thread beside the end of the new and wax them carefully together. By careful management, all the beads may then be slipped over this waxed juncture without needing to be restringed, and after they have all been transferred the few removed, to begin with may be added at the free end of the string. The string can then be cut to desired length and clasps can be attached to the ends of the string, knotted if the beads are of the slip-on variety.

This Year's Election Will Decide If Women Really Wanted To Vote

Mrs. Charles Sabin, G. O. P. Champion, Tells Women to Act

New York.—The presidential election of 1924 is going to be an answer in the affirmative to the question that is vexing many men—and women, really want suffrage—according to Mrs. Charles H. Sabin.

"Women had little actual representation in 1920 and they were not organized as they are now. So the comparatively small percentage of women who voted four years ago is no standard by which to judge what will happen at the polls this year," she says.

This slender blonde woman is scarcely the type you would pick out as a political leader. But she is. She is associate member of the Republican National Committee from New York and president of the Women's National Republican Club. It has been largely due to her leadership that the membership of this club has swelled from 250 members in 1921 to 16,000 now.

VOTE GETTERS
"The club is urging every woman, regardless of party, to organize at least 10 women in to vote that have never voted before," she went on. "And we are begging them to cast their votes as citizens not as women."

"The erroneous idea that women should be interested only in measures that affect women and children and not inform themselves as to the other political issues is defeating the very reason we wanted the vote—so as to take sex out of politics."

OUT OF HOME
Mrs. Sabin is the mother of two children in their teens whom she is training to take an active interest in politics.

But politics do not interfere with her family's home life.

"My husband is a Democrat," she admits, "but our political differences have never caused any dissension in our home life. My father was secretary of the navy under Roosevelt and my grandfather was in Cleveland's cabinet. Politics runs in the family, but the part is an individual matter. I believe it should be with everyone."

FASHION HINTS
FLESH LINING
The black chiffon or lace frock of today is much more apt to be mounted on a flesh colored lining than on a black one.

SILK COATS
Silk coats are being extensively worn now, and they are frequently part of a three piece outfit as well as a separate wrap.

RED AND WHITE
Very attractive collar and cuff sets for a blue serge frock are made of red and white unbleached linen.

PEASANT DRESS
A peasant dress of heavy white crepe de chine is embroidered in bright red and has a red sash.

FRENCH STRAW
Hats of French blue straw have bands of shaded silk or flowers of darker or lighter tones as trimming.

AVOID KRAUT ODOR
Miss Anna D. Scott, Philadelphia food economist, tells how to cook sauerkraut without an odor. Get canned sauerkraut. Punch a tiny hole in the top of the can. Heat the kraut in the can, in water. Then open the can and serve.

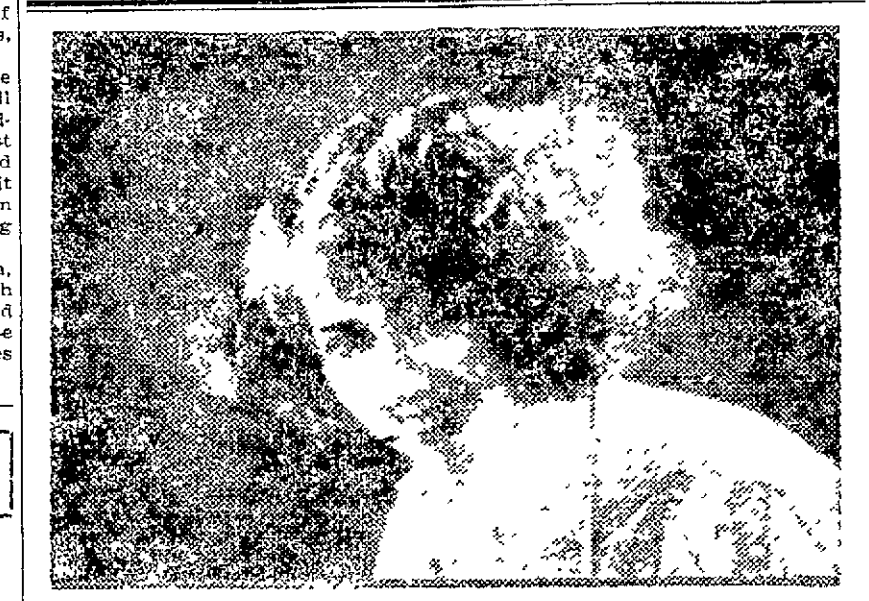

Reveal Right Way To Choose Your Perfumes

Here is the right way to buy perfume from the customer's standpoint. From a sample bottle of the extract, lift the stopper, and wave it slowly in front of the nostrils. The wrong way is to pour the perfume into the palm of the hand and try to get an idea of its elusive fragrance in that way; even a few drops are much too strong. Care must be taken not to let the bottle stopper touch the nose, for if even a drop of the perfume you are testing touches the skin you will not be able to judge properly the odor of the other perfumes you may sample in the next few moments.

First you must know whether you want a heavy, medium or light perfume. Psychologists tell us now that this should depend upon our personalities, and that the auras and odors we use should be chosen to express ourselves. If you are an "old fashioned garden" type of girl, select the scents that suggest the old fashioned garden flowers—lavender and dried rose leaves, if you are the stylish, fragile type, choose the delicate effluvia of the valley or some aroma that carries out the elusive appeal, if you are a pronounced exotic type, you are permitted the oriental perfumes.

Some of the most popular perfumes, of light volatility, are jasmine, sweet pea, lily of the valley, of medium strength, trailing arbutus, violet, white rose, honeysuckle, tuberoses, heavy orange blossom, narcissus, lily and gardenia.

Perfumes may be divided into two classes—natural and synthetic. The natural ones are obtained either from the animal or vegetable kingdom. To the first belong musk, civet, castor and ambergris, castor comes from the beaver. Ambergris was a mystery for a long while, but it is the secretion from a sperm whale, and is found floating on the surface of the sea.

At My Age---62
My Youth Cream keeps this baby skin
By Edna Wallace Hopper

Thousands upon thousands of women have asked me to tell what cold cream I employ. They see me with my girl's complexion at the age of 62. It is even softer, even rosier than 40 years ago.

Yet my life has been lived in the limelight. And I served France for five years in the rigors of the war.

A French creation
French experts perfected this cream for me many years ago. It contains both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to soften, whiten, smooth and feed the skin.

Neither I nor my friends have ever found a cream to compare with this. The exact makers tell me it is the greatest cream produced. So I have arranged to have them make the identical cream for you. It is called Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. All druggists and toilet counters now supply it at 60c per jar. It comes in two types—the Cold Cream type and the Vanishing type. Be sure to get the type you want. Both have the same essential constituents. Neither grows hair on the face.

They also supply my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my White Youth Clay—the best word in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my heavy, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each. Go try my Youth Cream. Learn how it feels all others. Then I think you will want all the beauty helps which have done so much for me. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, adv.

APPLETON WOMAN WRITES MUSIC FOR 'TALE OF THE FOX'

Executive Committee of Industrial Program Discusses Details at Meeting

Miss Irene Bidwell's music for the song, "The Tale of the Fox" was accepted by the executive committee of the production.

The "Tale of the Fox" at the meeting with Mrs. Charlotte B. Chorpennig at Appleton Women's club.

day afternoon. Miss Bidwell's setting of the poem was adopted after a comparison with others. The setting written by Bert Carlson also will be used in the production.

Mrs. Chorpennig, who is the dramatic director of the production and who is head of the dramatic instruction of the Recreation Training school of Chicago, is in Appleton to rehearse many of the acts for "The Tale of the Fox," which will be put on at Lawrence Memorial chapel on April 23 and 24. She met with the committee chairman on Thursday to discuss many details.

The next regular meeting of Appleton Women's club will be turned over to the committees of the pageant. The program will take place on the evening of April 8 and will include "The Little Swiss of the Tail of the Fox," an explanation of what the production aimed to do, a few sketches of the action of the production, including dances and perhaps, "The Price of Coal." The song, "The Tale of the Fox," will be sung by the audience at that time.

FIX TICKET PRICES

Among the things which were determined at the executive committee meeting was the price of cheap seats. There will be a few seats at 50 cents, $1 and $1.50. If every seat in the house is sold for both nights, the production expenses will be met. There was some discussion of the possibility of repeating the performance on Friday evening but no decision was made.

The report of the publicity committee made by L. A. Buchman, its chairman, showed excellent progress. Mr. Buchman said that he never realized how many automobiles there are in Appleton until he started to watch for the "Tale of the Fox" streamers on them. Besides numberless letters, the committee has been able to get street car, pteater and various other kinds of advertising. Mr. Buchman has arranged for several window displays.

REPORT ON COSTUMES

Mrs. Mark Catlin reported on the making of the costumes here while Mrs. Chorpennig gave a report of how the students at Chicago have combed the city for suitable material for costumes which would not cost a great deal. She gave an idea of the cost of costumes besides those that have been purchased at the local mills and donated by many of the concerns which are backing the production.

The committee greatly enjoyed hearing how the school in Chicago works for and thinks Appleton all the time. The last week of school was given over to the Appleton project almost entirely, only two folk dance classes and one play interrupted the work on the pageant, all of more than 70 students having an opportunity to take a hand in the work which has been necessary to make the production a success.

STUDENTS HERE

Miss Eleanor Strickland and Miss Anne Coolidge, two students from the school, were present at the meeting Thursday. Miss Strickland came to work on the valentine pantomime which will represent the Tuttle Press industry. Miss Coolidge has worked out the opening number of the production, "The Fable of the Fox." She has had charge of the development of the idea in Chicago and came to Appleton to get it started.

Gustave Keller reported for the program committee. All material for the program will be compiled by Thursday, April 3 and then the form of the program will be taken into consideration.

FLASHES OUT OF THE AIR

Chicago, Ill.—Chicago's two morning newspapers The Tribune and Herald and Examiner, have announced plans for operating separate radio broadcasting stations for sending programs of music, news and general information.

The Tribune will assume control of the Zenith Edgewater Beach Station, WJAZ beginning Saturday. The station which has a wave length of 419 meters has been in charge of E. F. McDonald, Jr., president of Radio Broadcasters and is one of the most powerful in the country. A change of the station's wave length is contemplated under the new arrangement. It is located in the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

The Chicago Herald and Examiner has joined with Sears Roebuck and Company in a new station to be opened early in April in the tower of the latter concern's administration building. The station call will be WBEK and its wave length will be 448 meters.

POSTPONE MEETING ON CANAL PROJECT

Because of the almost impossible condition of the roads, which would prevent most of the men principally interested from attending, the mass-meeting which was to have been held at New London on Saturday, March 28, to discuss the Shiocton plan for diverting flood water from the Wolf river has been postponed until the middle of April. No date has been set. Mayor E. W. Wendlandt, New London, was notified by Allan H. Tripp, Oshkosh, president of the Association for Relief of High Water, that a meeting at this time would be inadvisable.

Congressman J. J. Schneider's bill asking for a survey to determine feasibility of a canal from the Wolf river to Duck Creek, in Brown co., has been reported favorably to the house. The purpose of the mass-meeting at New London is to prepare memorials which will indicate to congress that the people affected by the proposal canal are heartily supporting the project.
